TRUE BINETALLISM.

Gen. Walker Explains Its Status in the United States.

TELLS ENGLISHMEN SILVERITES ARE INFLATIONISTS.

Meeting of Binetallist League in London—Secretary's Report Quite Optimistic in Tone—Letters From President Alden Hand.

London, July 13.—At a meeting of the bi-metallic league today an address was delivered by Prof. Francis A. Walker, the American political economist. Prof. Walker was frequently interrupted by bursts of cheers. He declared that no gold mono-metallic party existed in the United States, and said he would stake his honor that if the bi-metallic convention was proposed to the United States by the principal sound money men of Europe, the Americans would tumble head over heels in welcoming the proposal. What the silverites really desired, he continued, was silver inflation. Widely separated from these men were the real bi-metallics of the United States. Nothing, Prof. Walker declared, could be more unfounded than to say that the Republican national convention had pronounced in favor of gold mono-metallicism. Mr. McKinley, he said, had never been a gold mono-metallic. The maintenance of the gold standard in the United States was not rendered a whit less secure by reason of anything done at the Chicago convention.

Despite much friendly advice from this side of the ocean, the United States were not going to pull other people's chestnuts out of the fire, and would remain devoted to the rehabilitation of silver as a money metal and always ready to make sacrifices to that end. The bonds of the United States, he added, would continue to be paid in gold or its equivalent. The credit of the United States would continue to be as high as it ever has been since she had triumphantly vindicated the nationality in the war of secession. Prof. Walker was vociferously cheered as he resumed his seat at the close of the address.

The annual report of the league was read by the secretary. It was quite optimistic in tone, declaring that bi-metallicism had made noteworthy progress in all the countries where the question had been discussed.

In conclusion the report said: "The responsibility for the present and growing dangers to the industrial life of nations rests upon those who oppose the monetary system under which our prosperity advanced by leaps and bound." A letter from Lord Aldenham, president of the league and head of the firm of Anthony Gibbs & Sons, and a director of the Bank of England, congratulated the league upon the progress bi-metallicism had made in the world. He said it was a striking fact that the question of bi-metallicism, which in some quarters in England was treated with contempt, should have become the subject of a political question before the people of the United States.

The letter concluded with the declaration that the success might be the result of the approaching Presidential election in the United States the bi-metallicists could be sure that their cause was advanced.

A THIRD CONVENTION.

Call For One Issued By Gold Democrats of Illinois.

NEW YORK ORGANIZATION WONT SUPPORT SUCH A SCHEME.

Candidate Sewall Expresses His Views on the Labor Question—Says He Is a Friend of Organized Labor.

Chicago, July 13.—The honest money Democracy of Illinois, through its executive committee issued an address tonight to the Democrats of other states, calling upon them to nominate another national ticket, and adopt a platform of sound money, on which the nominees can appeal to those of that opinion. The call is signed by John M. Palmer, James Miller, Franklin McVeigh, Thomas A. Moran, John B. Hopkins, Henry S. Robbins, A. A. Goodrich, James T. Hoblitt and Adolph Kraus.

The pronouncements sets the pace for the East, but in the minds of the leaders there is not much faith that the party organizations, which sent gold delegates to the convention will declare for another convention. Much support for the new movement is expected from the middle and southern states. Candidates are freely spoken of, the most prominent being Carlisle, Palmer of Illinois and Morton of Iowa also mentioned.

From telegrams received today from Senator Hill and other party leaders in that state, it seems certain that the New York Democratic organization will not favor another convention. The Illinois gold Democrats received a setback today in the action of the Eastern Postmaster Hearing, leading member of that faction who said was opposed to a third ticket on the ground that it would mean the election of a silver candidate. Before leaving Chicago, Mr. Sewall denounced the attack made on him in a morning paper depicting him as a foe of organized labor. He said: "Any one acquainted with the history of Maine and her lumber and shipbuilding industries, knows that the house of Sewall has always been friendly to the laborer. We never had the slightest trouble, nor have we ever opposed union labor. I am an advocate of the cause of the laboring man. Our men have always been treated on that principle."

Chicago, July 13.—Hon. William J. Bryan reached the Clifton house this morning from the residence of Mrs. Bryan at South Paris, night and Sunday. He looked fresher and brighter after his day of uninterrupted rest.

In the lobby of the Clifton Mr. Bryan met Senator White of California, and the other members of the sub-committee on notification, who had come by appointment to have a chat about the arrangement for giving formal notice of Mr. Bryan's selection.

Mr. Arthur Sewall, the Vice Presidential candidate, was also present, and after Mr. Bryan and his wife shaking hands with the score of people who had gathered about him in the lobby, he and his wife went to the hotel where the Presidential candidates had their headquarters during the convention week.

The sub-committee spent an hour with Mr. Bryan and Mr. Sewall, and the result of their talk was determination to postpone the date of notification until some time after July 21, the date first named.

The members of the sub-committee said after the meeting that the date would undoubtedly be during the second week in August, and that New York would be the place.

It was Mr. Bryan's suggestion that the notification should be in the metropolis as everything indicates that no change will be made.

Mr. Bryan told the committee that he wanted to change his plans and would like to go to Salem and then to his home in Lincoln as soon as possible. Mr. Bryan will accompany her husband to Salem and Lincoln.

Mr. Sewall leaves for Bath tonight.

To Welcome Candidate Sewall Home.

Bath, July 13.—A large and enthusiastic meeting was called today morning by Mayor Bibber for the purpose of making the arrangements for receiving Arthur Sewall, who is expected home in a few days from Chicago. Hon. J. O. Patten presided. It was decided to place the celebration in the hands of the Democratic and Republican city committees.

AGAINST HIS CONVICTIONS.

Senator Gray Tells Why He Cannot Support the Chicago Platform.

Wilmington, Del., July 13.—Senator George Gray, who was a delegate to the Democratic national convention, and who did not vote for the Chicago platform, today asked his views on the platform and the nomination of Bryan for President: "The financial plank of the platform," said he, "is contrary to all my beliefs, and on what I consider sound Democracy. I cannot change those beliefs even at the bidding of a Democratic national convention. Convictions cannot be compromised. The Delaware Democracy is distinct from the national Democracy. It is too early to say what its course will be. The Democracy in this state has always had, and is likely to continue to have, strong sympathy with that of New York, New Jersey and Maryland."

GREAT COMMERCIAL DISASTER.

Delegate Goldthwaite Says Free Coinage Would Entail.

Yet He Isn't Sure But He Will Vote It By Voting For It.

[SPECIAL TO THE PRESS.]

Biddeford, July 13.—Tristram Goldthwaite, who represented the First Maine district at Chicago, was seen by a PRESS correspondent tonight, shortly after his arrival home. He was not very talkative, that is for publication, but was willing to be quoted as saying that his action in voting to vote candidates on a free silver platform was in accord with his best judgment as sound money man, representing a district whose convention had declared unanimously against free coinage.

"I believe," said he "that to adopt the free coinage of silver on a basis of 16 to 1, would bring upon this country greater commercial disaster than it ever experienced. I am a Democrat and will remain so as long as the Democratic party exists, but I believe the action of last week's convention will result in Democratic defeat, more complete than was the defeat of Horace Greeley."

Mr. Goldthwaite declined to say whether he would vote the national ticket.

The state committee will, within a few days meet in Portland to formulate some plank of united action for the gold faction of the party. So far as Mr. Goldthwaite can judge, the state committee will not follow the advice of Mayor Hanson of Belfast, and call a new state convention.

WONT PRESIDE.

Senator Hill Evidently Hasn't Made Up With the Popocrats.

New York, July 13.—An Albany special says: Senator Hill said this afternoon in regard to the story that he would preside at the meeting in Madison Square garden when the Chicago candidates are to be notified: "I know nothing about the meeting and am not going to preside. I have not given out since I left Chicago any expression of my views concerning the candidates or platform. I have nothing further to say of the situation."

TAKES HIS PEN IN HAND.

Would-Be Candidate Hanson Writes Candidate Winslow.

Belfast, July 13.—Mayor Hanson of this city has written an open letter to Mr. Winslow, the Democratic gubernatorial candidate, inquiring whether he will stand on the state gold platform or on the national silver one.

Harry Glad He Is Out of It.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 13.—Ex-Chairman Harry of the Democratic national convention, passed through Harrisburg this afternoon on his way to Philadelphia from Chicago. He did not care to talk politics and said he was not at present interested in the intentions of the gold Democrats. "One thing I will say," remarked Mr. Harry, "I am glad I am out of the national chairmanship. I cannot say whether he has hands full before he gets through this campaign."

Louisville, Ky., July 13.—The following has been received by W. N. Haldeman, president of the W. N. Journal company, this morning:

Colon, July 13.—The government of Costa Rica is issuing a decree withdrawing the present system of currency and establishing the gold standard.

AUGUSTUS SAWYER'S MURDERER.

A Lewiston Detective Tells Rather a Fishy Story Regarding Detection of Guilty One.

Lewiston, July 13.—Detective Fred L. Odlin claims to have discovered the identity of the murderer of Augustus Sawyer of Monmouth, who was killed in his barn at Monmouth, May 19, 1894. An autopsy showed that Sawyer was killed by the bullet from a 32-calibre revolver, which pierced his head near the upper lip and the brain near the base.

He had the reputation of being a miserly man of wealth and after his death his heirs found about $12,000 in money in the house. It was immediately reported that he had been killed for his money by some one who knew something of his habits.

Less than a week ago Odlin was in Monmouth and claims to have found the connecting link of a long chain of evidence, which really convicts a man who is now out of the reach of the law because he is now serving a long sentence in a state prison and in all probability when he is released he will be old and gray headed.

The man in question was in Monmouth, Saturday May 19, 1894, and at a certain hour he stood inside the door of the barn while Augustus Sawyer stood in the tie-up of the barn.

In the man's pocket not many hours after, was found a revolver of the 32-calibre kind, and there was one empty shell in a chamber. All the other chambers were full—though one unexploded cartridge had been tapped by the trigger. Mr. Odlin can prove this much and even has the revolver in his possession.

RATHER EMOTIONAL.

B. F. Mills Calls Cleveland Bad Names.

BECAUSE OF GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE TOWARDS TURKEY.

Weak, Wicked, Barbaric, Criminal, Some of the Adjectives Used—His Audience Heartily Cheers His Stand—Closing Day of Convention.

Washington, July 13.—The last day's session of the fifteenth international Christian Endeavor convention began today at the appointed hour in the three white tents, simultaneously, after the usual sunrise prayer meeting, President Clark, Treasurer Shaw and Trustee Wayland Hoyt presiding. It was a day reserved for missionaries.

Addresses were made in tents Williston and Endeavor by a number of foreign delegates, India, China and Africa, Asia, England and the countries of Continental Europe being represented. Among other missionaries, Goll of Africa, Rutnam of India, Bintley of China and Hildner of Germany.

The chief interest of the day centered in the Armenian demonstration in Tent Washington. An Armenian relief committee has been at work all the week stirring up enthusiasm among the delegates. Special Armenian relief flags and badges have been spread over the city, and they appear everywhere in the decorations in street cars and on the head dress and lapels of the delegates. Three Armenian missionaries are here, one on the committee, and the others being Margaret Leitch of Ceylon and Rebecca Kirkcaldy of Turkey.

At the same meeting Evangelist Mills, described the horrors and cruelty of the Sultan, showing him to be a man of great ability, and then said: "I have no doubt that these massacres in Armenia were planned and carried out by the Sultan for his own purpose."

Mr. Mills laid the blame for the atrocities at the door of the Christian nations. He declared that England stood purged today before God and the nations for failure to prevent them.

"England," said he, "who held up her hands and swore to protect the Turkish Christians, has broken her vow and the blood of those who died in Armenia is upon her hands." (Great cheering.) He showed that respectability rested upon the government of the United States. She had more direct cause than England to interfere. Yet she scarcely asked for an apology. "May," he minister has even warned American missionaries to get out of Turkey, as he should not be able to protect them." (Hisses.) How glorious was their answer. "We will stay here with our people." (Applause and hisses.)

He explained how the British ambassador had been expelled from the missionaries so that they were allowed to continue their work unmolested. "That was the only reason they were not expelled," he said, "and our noble President on one of his fishing expeditions, wandered into Turkish domains, and had so much as a tiny little bullet from his Turk's play pistol passed through his ear. A American would have found it some of our business to interfere in Turkish affairs." (Great applause and laughter.)

He charged the government of the United States with misrepresentation of the American people in this Armenian question. The President of the United States, Secretary of State and American minister have disregarded our broken treaties. They have permitted American lives to be endangered, they have permitted American property to be destroyed without reparation, and American citizens to be imprisoned.

Our government has stirred the passions of the American people to anger against England on a thousandth part of the pretext that would have sufficed for a century of misadventure. The administration officers have turned a deaf ear, and a most scornful ear to the entreaties and representations of some of our best citizens, missionaries, church and moral societies. I denounce their conduct as unpatriotic, uncivil, undemocratic, unchristian, un-American, un-Christian, selfish, weak, wicked, barbaric and criminal, in the eyes of the American people and of God and all men."

Every word almost, of the last two sentences of Mr. Mills was greeted by a loud cheer. Men and women on the platform behind him and in the benches before him, rose and shouted hearty approval of his denunciation of President Cleveland. He was called the American charge of cowardice and disloyalty; leveled at the chief executive, the Secretary of State and the Turkish minister, the whole audience arose spontaneously waving flags and banners and crying aloud their approval.

At the end of his speech, six rousing cheers of approval were given. Rev. Wayland Hoyt, who presided arose in his seat beside the speaker, and called upon the audience to reaffirm the charge, and again came the six cheers, with hearty enthusiasm.

"I hope that response will echo through the empty White House and attend to Buzzard's Bay," cried Mr. Mills as he took his seat.

Rev. B. Fay Mills also addressed an meeting, as follows:

I would ask your most prayerful attention to the thoughts that are suggested in the prayer we have prayed so frequently, as recorded in the sixth chapter of Matthew, tenth verse: "May Thy kingdom come as it is in heaven." We have all said it hundreds of times; and of all the millions that have ever prayed it how many have ever really expected the answer? How many people have applied to it the principle that Jesus taught when he said: "Whatever things ye desire when ye pray, believe that ye have received them, and ye shall have them." The things we, and that are God's kingdom may come, and that His will may be done on earth as it is in heaven. Now, we know what the popular idea of heaven has been in the past. I doubt whether there is any popular idea of heaven now prevalent among the people. I scarcely

THE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

Chairman Names His Assistants and Outlines His Plans.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 13.—After nearly a month of careful consideration, Chairman Hanna of the National committee, has named the executive committee and advisers in managing McKinley's campaign. The list contains the names of M. A. Hanna, chairman; M. S. Quay, Joseph Manly, H. O. Payne, Wisconsin; Cyrus Leland, Kansas; Powell Clayton, Arkansas; C. G. Dawes, Illinois; W. D. Parlin, Indiana. Wm. Osborn of Boston is made secretary of the committee.

The committee will meet in this city Wednesday. "I am now preparing for the fight," Hanna said today with the air of a man who is confident of winning. We think that the Western and Southern States are the danger grounds, and we shall go into the contest with that idea. In this campaign there are more issues than tariffs and the money question, which are of fully as much importance as the other two and which if anything, concern the maintenance of our government more than these two issues. I refer particularly to the stability of the judicial system which is threatened by the Democratic party in their platform.

Troubles Begun Early.

Thomaston, July 13.—The opening game of the Knox County league Rockland vs. Thomaston was stopped today by the Thomaston in the seventh inning on account of the umpire's very unjust decision. Score—Thomaston, 7; Rockland, 7. Errors—Thomaston, 4; Rockland, 5. The umpire gave the game to Rockland 9 to 0.

Baseball Notes.

Umpire Hurst, at Cleveland, yesterday, received a telegram from President Young, instructing him that Tebeau was ineligible to play and telling him the game was liable to protest. Tebeau went into court and an injunction was issued against Hurst restraining him from interfering with Tebeau. Restraining orders were served on Irwin and Gleason, enjoining them from collecting the fine levied on Tebeau. Irwin decided to take the chance on being in contempt of court and protested the game. The chances are that he will be arrested because of the game called off.

There is talk that the Western association will be dissolved within a week or two. If it should, a good many promising players will be thrown on the market. The Murphy Balsams play in Newport, R. I., next Wednesday. Another series of home games opens tomorrow, Fall River being first on the list. Manager Leonard wires that he has signed Second Baseman Torryson, late of the Metropolitans and Outfielder Hill, and has released Cavanaugh.

HOW HE REGAINED HIS VALISE.

Listened to the Advice of the Crowd and Then Took His Own Way.

It was an hour after midnight when he totted up the steps of the Alley "L," carrying a valise. Instead of putting it down on the platform while he was waiting for the train he placed it on the railing and rested his elbow on it.

Of course, while he was in that position some one brushed against him, and the grip took a tumble to the roof of a low building 12 feet below. Instantly every one on the platform was on the spot asking what had happened, some of them sympathizing, some snickering and nearly all offering suggestions.

The fat man held out a cane with a curved handle and said, "If you could tie a rope to this you might hook it into the handle of the grip and pull it up." Strange to say, no one had a clothline in his vest pocket, and so that idea had to be passed up.

"You'll have to wait till morning," said another, "and get the people who own the building to let you get up on the roof."

"Better notify the police," suggested another. This seemed to gain the approval of the crowd except one man, who thought it would be a good idea to tell the ticket seller about it, which he immediately started to do.

All this time the man who owned the grip said not a word, but calmly waited until the crowd had exhausted its stock of suggestions. Then he turned to a colored youth and asked him if he could climb. The boy answered in the affirmative, and then the man said, "I'll give you a quarter if you will climb down that iron support and bring up my grip."

In less than a minute the valise was in the owner's hands, and the others were wondering why they didn't think of that themselves.—Chicago Tribune.

Maine Representatives of the Unterrified Back from Chicago.

The Gold Bugs Disgusted and the Silverites Jubilant.

The Recent Converts Are the Noisiest Bryan and Sewall Shouters—Some Went Out for Gold but Came Back Silver Plated—How the Ice Water Man Yelled into Winslow's Ear—Hot Shot from Holman—How Sewall's Nomination Came Around—Some Convention History.

The Maine delegation to the Chicago circus has returned, the gold contingent weather beaten, storm tossed and sore, the silver contingent exultant, and the third element; the men elected as gold men by a gold convention but who couldn't withstand the seductive music of the silver tongue and orchestra and flopped, the loudest and wildest in their proclamations of the virtues and beneficence of the new silverized-Till.

No wild Comanches of the plains ever approached in yelling and screeching faculties, those wild silverites of fair Louisiana. The man Marston, the ice water hero, was right side of me, and he was easily first among the shouters. He fairly climbed all over me in his periodical silver fits. The drums of my ears are deafened in from the concussion of his voice. Mr. Winslow was extremely popular with the delegates. They all manized-Algeldized-Bryanized-Sewallized-Salvation.

The entire delegation save young Plaisted has returned. This gentleman is going to stay and help tell Mr. Bryan he is nominated. Incidentally he will doubtless remind him that his father, Gen. Harris M. Plaisted, was the man who was once elected as a Greenback Democrat to the governorship of Maine.

Plaisted was elected as a gold man by the gold men, but it didn't take the silver hand long to touch a responsive chord in the Plaisted heart, and he flopped. When he gets home he will not be serenaded by his constituents.

The delegation returned over the Mountain division of the Maine Central last night. A PRESS man boarded the train at Bartlett and made the last part of the trip with them. The delegation as a whole were looking well.

Hon. Edward B. Winslow looked tired out, and well he might be, for it has been a week of especially trying times to him. Nominated for governor on a gold platform, it does seem a little cruel to think of him sitting there, a non participant, through all that whirlwind of silverism.

"I am nearly deaf," said the genial candidate for governor. "I sat directly in front of the delegation from Louisiana."

John Scott of Bath was there, silver plated and jubilant. He was sent as a delegate from that gold convention at Portland, but they sent a red hot silver man. That's one on the convention. Mr. Scott told the convention about the whispering pines of Maine that were going to dance with delicious silver joy along with the festive sunflower of Nebraska. The yellow color of the sunflower is against it though. Delegates Warren, Sawyer and Plaisted are a non participant, through all that whirlwind of silverism.

The War Eagle of York was in excellent health. He is still pure gold. Not a feather of his Democratic plumage was touched by silver. Be it to his eternal credit.

C. Vey Holman was there, as full of interesting information of the great convention as a nut is full of meat. He fought bravely for gold and religious liberty, and he still sticks to the gold standard. There's no Sewallizing him. Lawyer Doody of Bar Harbor was another gold man who came back beaten but proud of his allegiance.

Fred Emory Bone was there in a meditative frame of mind. He didn't look happy. He was probably thinking of days to come for the state committee. Here is how the delegation voted: Gordon, Winslow, Snow, Beane, Sherman, for Pattison on three ballots. Plaisted and Warren for Bryan all the time.

Scott and Warren for Bland on three ballots and then for Bryan.

The Maine delegation will be kept busy for sometime explaining. Maine has not begun to recover from the shock of surprise occasioned by Sewall's nomination. Time for reflection does not deprecate the wonder. The delegation will be asked to explain why it allowed the nomination without protest, for a man whom it had been elected to dethrone from the national committee and whose defeat was promptly executed almost as soon as Chicago was reached. The man who apparently is responsible for Maine's acquiescence and assistance in Sewall's nomination, is Seth C. Gordon, the gold chairman of the delegation and the man who himself succeeded Sewall on the national committee. Dr. Gordon says that he did it as a matter of state pride, though it is difficult to see how this is figured out, as state pride did not prevent the ousting of Sewall from the national committee. Dr. Gordon says that but five members of the delegation were present when the ballot for Vice-President was taken. Three of those men, silver men, would have voted for Sewall anyway. He consulted with his colleague R. B. Winslow, candidate for governor, and then addressing the chair, said in effect, That only a portion of the Maine delegation was present and that a majority of the delegation was for gold and opposed to the views of Sewall, but as a matter of state pride he would cast the entire vote of the delegation as a purely complimentary vote for Mr. Sewall. This he continued to do until he was nominated. The doctor goes further and says that of the candidates named Mr. Sewall was unquestionably the best.

A number of the delegation did not attend the convention, among them, Capt. L. S. Sherman, a firm gold man, who says he told Gordon in the morning he would not attend the convention because he would under no condition vote for Vice-President. Imagine his surprise when with C. Vey Holman, he saw posted a bulletin saying "Maine's entire national platform. He says he has not exchanged a word with Sewall on the subject whatever.

Sewall's scheme is to have the state committee call a new state convention which will be asked to endorse Bryan and Sewall and adopt a silver plank in place of the gold one which was so recently set forth as the settled conviction of the Maine Democracy. If he thinks the Maine party will consent to this reckless without his host. The name of Sewall is far from a name to conjure with among Maine Democrats. Judging from the sentiments freely expressed such a thing would not be within the bounds of a possibility. I have not heard of a prominent gold Democrat in Maine yet who has endorsed the ticket, while the well-known Democrats who have already publicly repudiated the ticket are numbered by the score. How bitterly the strong gold members of the delegation feel in this matter can be seen from the following sentiments:

C. VEY HOLMAN, ESQ., of Rockland who was on the committee on resolutions, and who has been a steadfast champion of gold throughout the convention, said, "I can say, with Senator Hill, 'I am a Democrat, but I am not a revolutionist.' Further than that, I am no opportunist. I am a poor hand at leaping upon bandwagon that happen to move in directions opposite to the line of my convictions. It seems evident that eastern Democrats have been unnecessarily misled by the error made in reporting the action of the Maine delegation as unanimous on the selection of a Vice-Presidential candidate when will create no Maine enthusiasm, he will not head any Dirigo uprising. If any Maine gold Democrats are going to vote for him they are not making themselves conspicuous.

SARGENT, THE ARTIST.

The high reputation of John Singer Sargent makes him one of the most prominent figures in the modern world of art. No American artist has occupied such an exalted position as he has attained before reaching his fortieth year; none is more celebrated in Paris, London and the other art centers of Europe. He has painted some of his best portraits in the United States, and "La Carmencita," the picture which represents him in the famous Luxembourg gallery in Paris, was painted in New York and first publicly shown at the exhibition of the Society of American Artists. His career has been a cosmopolitan one, and his youth was passed among surroundings very different from those that affect the intellectual bent of most American boys who become painters and sculptors.

He was born in Florence, Italy, in 1856, and his parents had gone to live some years before. His father was Dr. Fitz Hugh Sargent, a Boston physician, and his mother, whose maiden name was Newbold, and who belonged to a well known family of Philadelphia, possessed the accomplishment of painting very cleverly in water colors. Educated partly in Italy and partly in Germany young Sargent entered the Academy of Fine Arts at Florence at a comparatively early age and before he was 18 had spent several years in study. He learned to paint in water colors as well as to draw with the pencil or charcoal, and one summer, when he was in the Tyrol with his mother, Frederick Leighton, not yet a peer and president of the Royal Academy, but a famous English artist notwithstanding, meeting them, commended the boy's work and counseled him to continue the study of painting.

The serious and earnest side of Sargent's character always impressed his fellow students in those Latin Quarter days. He had no taste for dissipation, though he was by no means puritanical. The lighter side of his temperament found satisfaction in music, the theater and literature and in the keen appreciation of everything in the tastes and amusements of the day that had a new or original flavor. Though an eager reader, he was not a bookman, but an observer. Alert is the adjective which perhaps best expresses the quality of his predominating characteristic. He was quick to see and ready to absorb everything that struck him as novel.—"Sargent and His Painting," by William A. Coffin, in Century.

A Pressing Engagement.

He was well nigh exhausted, but with indomitable resolution he pressed steadily on.

For he knew she was a Chicago girl and liked a hug better than a grizzly bear.—New York Press.

Not a Desirable Invention.

"Do you have a telephone in your house?" "No, I sometimes have to work at the office at night, and if I had a phone at home my wife would call me up every three minutes to see if I was there."—Chicago Record.

Personally I should consider such a movement absolutely and unqualifiedly commendable. I would not only stultify ourselves as individuals, but as a party and entirely destroy the availability of Hon. E. B. Winslow's candidacy for the governorship. Mr. Winslow today occupies a most enviable position in the esteem of the citizens of the state, for his sound conservatism and thorough honesty. This reputation deserved and honored would be undermined completely by a demonstration of the fact that he could be swayed from his convictions to suit the shifting purposes of party managers or to fit the inconsistencies of conflicting platforms. On the other hand

TUESDAY JULY 14.

The Socialists of Germany may be excused for assuming that a victory for the red flag has been won at Chicago.

The Massachusetts delegation returned from Chicago much dejected. The Maine men seem to have come back dejected.

Bland proposes to go back to Congress, where he can make more noise for silver than he could have in the Presidential chair, even.

The price of silver has actually fallen since the nomination of Bryan and Sewall. This betrays little faith in the doctors that have been called to the case.

The use of telegraph wire cut into bits instead of shot is one of the devices to which necessity has driven the Cubans. This recalls the fact that the Confederates in our civil war sometimes used board-nails. It was such a missile that wounded General Hancock on the third day at Gettysburg.

It is said that George Fred Williams would have received the nomination for second place on the ticket, had not the Massachusetts delegates resisted so bluntly when the proposition was made to them. The Maine delegation seem to have been as little pleased with Mr. Sewall, but consented to vote for him merely in a "complimentary" way.

The Democratic party cannot appreciate yet what a funny thing they have done in making Arthur Sewall the running mate of Bryan, the populist denouncer of corporations and of the men who grow rich by manipulating corporate property. If Mr. Bryan will come East and interview the Hon. Frank Jones, of Portsmouth, the latter may be able to explain to him how funny the situation really is.

Judge Holman, of Indiana, the great "Objector," is likely to return to the Fifty-fifth Congress. The old district, which he represented for nearly a quarter of a century, has been cut up by redistricting; but Judge Holman has been left in an overwhelming Democratic district. It is said that his nomination will be made by acclamation; and his election will probably follow. He was very strong in his old district, and nothing but the tidal wave of 1894 could have disturbed him.

It seems that the sending of the cruiser Columbia to participate in the celebration at Castine was something of an innovation. It has been the policy of the navy department not to detail single vessels from the squadron for such purposes, it being the belief of naval men that the manoeuvres are too important to be broken into for "pleonics," as they call the local celebrations. Secretary Herbert, however, takes the ground that the navy belongs to the people, and that a vessel can be spared to go to Castine as well as the fleet can be spared to drop in to Newport or Bar Harbor two or three times during a summer.

The secondary elections which took place in Belgium yesterday are interesting on account of the struggle between socialism and conservatism. Belgium has had a long and bitter struggle over her public school system. The liberal party, which has been the champion of the public schools, found itself in such a position that many of its members felt it their duty to throw their votes to the clerical candidates, in order to prevent a triumph of the socialists. But the clericals in two years have used the power in such a way that many liberals, in order to throw off the domination of the priests, determined to vote for the socialist candidates. For a week many leading liberal journals have been arguing that socialism was preferable to the reactionary policy of the clericals.

The New York Journal publishes a telegram which purports to have been sent from Chicago Saturday by Mr. Sewall. The telegram is as follows:

My attitude upon the platform is well known. I was one of those who signed the minority report in favor of Daniel, and think that not defines my position upon the issue of the campaign.

If we can undo the work in Maine which has already been done, I believe I will be able to carry the State. The State Convention of Maine has been held and has nominated a ticket on a gold platform.

The gentleman who is the candidate for Governor is all that can be desired, and he assures me that he will stand upon the platform adopted by this convention. We shall, under these conditions, fight in Maine with good prospects of success.

ARTHUR SEWALL.
This telegram indicates that there is to be a ripping up of old work as soon as the boys get home. The federal office holders and other gold-bugs would do well to get their guns.

CURRENT COMMENT.
RESIGNATION.
(Eastern Argus.)

Our National Democratic Convention having selected candidates for President and Vice President, we place their names at the head of our columns in accord with our invariable custom. We have heretofore justly censured the wisdom of the "free silver policy," but the Convention has decided for it and we acquiesce, that being the Democratic doctrine, because any other course would lead to the employment of force, which is the ready method of despots.

For our State campaign we happily are heartily in support of our popular candidates from Governor down, and every indication points to a full vote and we fondly hope to a reasonable measure of success.

MR. SEWALL'S NOMINATION.
(Boston Herald.)

From a political point of view the nomination of Mr. Sewall is weak. In turning to Maine for the second name on the ticket, the managers of the Democratic campaign have made a bad blunder. They have nothing to hope from that state. In presidential contests Maine has always been faithful to the Republican party, and there is not the slightest prospect that in the present contest she will turn aside from the well worn path. If the Bryan managers were good strategists, they would have recognized that the true line of choice lay in the disputable section of the country, where, by enlisting state pride and local influence for their ticket, they might turn a dubious balance in their favor and gain electoral votes. This chance they have now thrown away, and in doing so they have shown an astounding lack of political capacity, which we are glad to say augurs ill for their conduct of the campaign.

(Boston Advertiser.)

It is to be doubted that the man from Maine will really, in the long run and in the end, prove himself to be a source of strength. There is not any slightest remotest chance of his securing the electoral vote of the Pine Tree State. Maine has never once, since the Civil War, gone Democratic in a Presidential year. It has very seldom done so in any other year. This year the chances of its doing so are more remote than ever. The influence of Speaker Reed, whom the voters of Maine admire, love and honor with the same degree of enthusiastic loyalty that was so long given to James G. Blaine, would alone suffice to keep that Great State in the Republican ranks; for Reed will make a splendid and unwavering light for McKinley and Hobart. Yet without any fight at all, the Republican majority there would certainly be immense. Thousands of sound money Maine Democrats will refuse to support the platform of repudiation and business paralysis. Three of the delegates from the State published a card addressed to Chairman White, in which they indignantly denied the assertion that their delegation voted solidly for Sewall, declaring that while they esteemed their fellow citizen personally, they could and they did take no part in nominating any man on such a platform as had been adopted. In those parts of the country where the populist fever rages most virulently, Mr. Sewall's banking and railway affiliations will be looked upon with no good will; while his association with the Republican party, a protectionist and a tariff reformer, will make him persona non grata with all "tariff reform" Democrats.

(Providence Journal.)

Mr. Arthur Sewall's record and views are in some respect ridiculously out of harmony with the platform on which he has been nominated. An Eastern capitalist, intimately connected with railway and banking corporations, a protectionist and a bitter opponent of an income tax, he belongs conspicuously to the very classes which the Socialist convention at Chicago declared itself in favor of despoiling. In one sense, however, his nomination is a fitting one. He is a professional politician, he has been notoriously disloyal to Democratic principles; and for that reason there is a certain special propriety in his nomination by a national Democratic convention which disavowed all every decent Democratic tradition.

A Sound-Money Hotel Man.
(White Mountain Echo.)

When the Maine delegation to the Chicago Convention were en route to the "Windy City" they partook of a meal at the Falyan house. Previous to departure they drew up at the "Captain's office" for payment, when they found Col. George F. Falyan on hand. "How much?" asked the first comer. "Two dollars," replied the astonished Colonel. "Why two dollars?" asked the second. "You two dollars," said the Colonel, and then, with an amused smile at the long faces of his guests, added, "Yes, two dollars if you pay on a silver basis, but one dollar if on a gold basis or in greenbacks." His guests on this occasion preferred the gold standard, and paid accordingly. Evidently friend Grant is sound as a financier.

STATE TOPICS OF INTEREST.

Formal services in connection with the breaking of ground for the church at Good Will Farm, took place at Fairfield Saturday morning. The congregation sang "At the Cross." The fifth Psalm was read by Franklin D. Elmer of the University of Chicago, and prayer was offered by G. W. Hinckley. The congregation sang "My Faith Looks Up to Thee." Mr. Hinckley made a brief address, in which he emphasized the relation between home, school and church. He announced that the donor of the church was present and that she had chosen the one who should turn the first turf. The turf was then cut, and Supervisor Hinckley's daughter Faith, five years old, took the spade and completed the work of turf turning. It is expected that work on the church will go forward rapidly.

At the continued hearing at Augusta in the case of the ill-fam'd Samuel Cooper, of Boston, who at his arrest gave his name as Harry Sanders, he waived examination and was placed in $500 bonds to appear before the grand jury at the September term of court. Bonds were later furnished, and he left, as he said, for Boston, with a woman said to be his wife.

A five-year-old in Dover was taken to a dentist's the other day and had three teeth extracted. He behaved so nicely that the dentist gave the boy a dime as he was leaving the office. That dime bought some nice candy, and when the boy wanted some money for fire crackers for the Fourth, with genuine Yankee instinct he betook himself to the dentist and asked to have some more teeth extracted.

At the Maine Central Institute alumni meeting recently held at Pittsfield the subject of repairing the hall in upper story of the institute building was talked over. The work would necessarily be expensive and at the least calculation would require $5,000. Hon. Lewellyn Powers and Attorney General Powers told the committee that if the committee would raise $3,000, the rest of the amount would be forthcoming.

A Waterville man was driving along slowly on the Vassalboro road when he noticed in the road in front of his horse a monster mud turtle. He pulled up his horse to take a better look at the turtle as he passed it and imagine his surprise when the carriage was opposite to see the turtle set its jaws on to the rim of the wheel with a savage snap. The wheel was moving and the turtle was taken off the ground, but continued a firm hold on the wheel till he was carried nearly over the axle, when by the sharp twist in the neck it was forced to let go and fall to the ground.

SUCCESS DEPENDS

upon many things, but from no single matter which may be undertaken is so much good likely to result as from the unselfish act of insuring your life.

IT rounds out a man's life record with unquestioned evidence of family devotion

IT yields to the person insured a substantial cash value if he lives; to his family, ready money if he dies.

MISSAPPREHENSION that Life Insurance is expensive sometimes deters men. Facts disprove this. $25 per year is not much to pay for $1,000 of protection. That is all a life policy in the Union Mutual costs anyone about 30 years old. If the insurance does not become payable in 15 or 20 years, the cash value will. This is a satisfactory monetary return made sure.

SHOT TWO AND HIMSELF.

Would-be Murderer Shot at His Wife and a Man and Then Committed Suicide.

Arthur Le Montague, a French laborer at Caswell Mills, near Lowell, shot his wife in the head twice Sunday noon. Le Montague left the house, and meeting Fred Boulanger, section boss of the Canadian Pacific railway, fired three shots, dangerously wounding him in the head. Boulanger will probably recover. The woman will die. Insane jealousy was the cause. Le Montague then shot himself under the right ear, dying instantly.

Moosehead Excursion.

The Maine Sportsmen's excursion to Kineo, is being received with great favor. The fares are so reasonable, that any one desiring to visit this charming resort, renowned for its beautiful scenery, can do so now when woods, mountains and water are in their happiest moods. The Kineo house, known as the "palace hotel" of our lake region, will be the headquarters for the excursionists. The date of the excursion is Tuesday, July 21st and 22nd with tickets good to return at any time including the Monday following. From Portland the fare is only $5.00 to Kineo and return, and the Kineo day rates are reduced to $2 per day for this excursion. The secretary has already received notice that parties are being made up from all parts of the state and many professional and leading citizens will take this opportunity to visit Kineo. Boats at Greenville will connect with all regular trains, and those leaving Portland on the 12.10 a. m. train via Lewiston and Waterville, will reach Greenville at 5.05 p. m. and Kineo at 7.30. Wednesday forenoon, will be held from the hotel piazza or in the grove, and addresses will be made by Hon. Llewellyn Powers, Herbert M. Heath, Hon. A. M. Spear, Hon. W. T. Haines, E. M. Blanding, the fish and game commissioners.

In the afternoon there will be canoe races by guides and other sports, and excursions on the lake to localities of interest. This excursion is for sportsmen and all others who desire to go, and many will avail themselves of the opportunity to take their friends with them.

Police Court.

James White was fined $5 yesterday morning for allowing his cows to browse on the lawn in front of the Union station.

Cookson, the colored steward of the Bay State, was before Judge Robinson yesterday morning. He pleaded not guilty for the larceny of ear drops valued at $500, and his case was continued until Wednesday morning. He was required to furnish bail in the sum of $500, but could find no bondsmen.

Insufficient evidence was presented against Jacob Johnson, charged with evading fare on the Bay State and Johnson was discharged.

Michael O'Keefe and John F. Kell, alias Green, alias Cunningham, for larceny for the tug boats Belknap and Warren, were bound over in the sum of $400 for their appearance before the grand jury in September. They failed to furnish bonds.

Another Hot One.

The thermometer registered from 90 to 94, according to location yesterday. The weather bureau's glass marked 90. At Union wharf several longshoremen were obliged to stop work unloading coal from a vessel. John Cummings, a longshoreman, was overcome by the heat and was taken to his home. His case is not a serious one for he recovered soon after reaching his home.

A jug of molasses was noticed in front of W. L. Wilson & Co.'s store. It stood in the sun and the molasses was boiling out of it.

Oldtown's Park.

The negotiations for the purchase of land on Main street, Oldtown, known as the Bradbury lot for a city park, has been stopped by an injunction, which was issued by Chief Justice Peters of the Supreme court.

The ground upon which the injunction was obtained is that at the time the vote was taken and the order passed, Alderman G. Gilmore Weld, "was peculiarly interested in the result of said vote, to wit, was the owner of the real estate and the vote of said Weld was then and there decisive."

Mrs. Emerson of Auburn is at the 8th Maine Regiment cottage.

Mrs. Kate Horn of Boston the mother of Mr. James Horn of McCullum's company is visiting her son at the Silver Wing cottage.

The yacht Reynard of Newburyport, Columbia of Boston and Wild Duck of Boston, were anchored off Peaks on Sunday.

Mr. E. P. Sullivan is occupying one of Cran's cottages for the season.

Mr. Ralph Cummings of McCullum's last year's company is visiting friends on the island.

The large and roomy cottage belonging to the Maine Eighth Regiment association, situated in a most beautiful spot commanding a view of the White Head channel and the open sea is assuming its accustomed look of gaiety and activity.

Capt. Hilman Smith, the secretary of the Eighth regimental association and ex-mayor of Auburn was hard at work with his willing assistants yesterday getting the building into shape to receive the guests who are expected daily and are constantly arriving. The most of those who occupy this building are members of the Regimental association, their friends and invited guests and Memorial hall, as it is called, is nightly the scene of musicals, dancing parties and jolly gathering of all kind. Indeed, the surviving members of the gallant old Eighth with children and friends spend a few weeks every summer in this cottage enjoy themselves highly and their colony is one of the liveliest on Peaks.

Among those now at the Eighth Regiment cottage are Capt. Hilman Smith and family, Mrs. Horace Little and children, Mrs. William Malcom and family, Mrs. H. B. Sawyer and family, Mrs. S. L. Emerson and family, all of Auburn. By a late boat yesterday afternoon there arrived four of Auburn's pretty school teachers, who have spent several summers at the Eighth Regiment cottage. These are Misses Nettie Curtis, Ida Smith, Bertha Brown and Stella Pettengill. Several other Auburn people are expected in a few days.

The annual reunion of the old Eighth regiment will occur on August 12th and 13th. On the first day will occur the reunion dinner and camp fire, business meetings and other parts of the reunion programme will follow in rapid succession. Col. McCarthy, who presented the cottage to the Eighth Regiment association is expected to be present at this reunion for the first time in many years. About one hundred veterans are expected to be present.

Adjoining the Eighth regiment cottage is the Memorial cottage of the Fifth Maine regiment, which also occupies one of the liveliest spots on the island and is a handsome, well arranged building. The annual reunion of the Fifth Regiment will occur on August 11 and 12, so the committee which has the matter in charge decided yesterday. The election of officers will occur on the first day, when a camp fire will also be held and the annual dinner will occur on the next day.

Among those now stopping at the cottage are Captain J. B. Hammond and family of New Gloucester, William B. Adams wife and family of Auburn, Col. Clark S. Edwards of Bethel and Thomas Ward of Lewiston.

Mr. Lougee, wife and daughter of Nashua, N. H., and Frank F. Goes and family of Auburn are expected to arrive at the Fifth Regiment cottage in a few days.

"Hammockville" or "Canvas City" as it has recently been named forms a large settlement by itself, and although it is almost hidden among the trees on the south shore of the island, it is a place the cottagers delight to visit for here may be found some of the jolliest people in the harbor. A PRESS man wandered up through this Canvas city yesterday and found the inhabitants enjoying the cool breezes from the ocean which was enjoyed on this side of the island while the summer settlement on the side nearest the harbor was suffering from the heat. The camps for the most part are pitched in the grove of pines or near its edge. They consist of one or two tents with a wooden cook house and dining room annexed. In front are stretched over broad piazzas, wide awnings beneath which is generally swung a hammock or two, and it is needless to say that the hammock is usually occupied.

The first tent is usually carpeted and handsomely furnished, serving for a sitting room and in some cases these parlors contain an organ or melodeon with which to accompany the nightly chorus of the Canvas city's many quartettes. The sleeping room is behind the parlor and the campers out say it is cool and comfortable even in the hottest of weather or on the hottest day.

The inhabitants of Canvas city could not be hired to live under a cottage roof, and a case of sickness or a loss of appetite is never known in this little settlement.

One of the camps recently pitched and also one commanding the best view and most handsomely fitted up, is called "Camp Waltham." It is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Downs and Miss Hattie Fillebrown of Waltham, Mass., and Mr. O. E. Davis of New York.

Near-by is "Camp McKinley," inhabited by Messrs. Thomas, Elmer, Varney and Harris. Camp Montecito is the euphonious name of the canvas house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Greenville Jeffards of Portland, and Miss Alice Carle. Camp Sunny Crest is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John P. Scribner of Portland, and visiting them are Mrs. Loring and daughter of Yermouth.

Camp Comfort is one of the oldest and largest camps in Hammockville. It was started in 1881 and has been occupied every year since by Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Anderson and family of Portland. Scattered around in neighboring tents are their guests, Mr. Charles E. Fox and wife of Waltham, Mrs. Charles A. Ballard and daughter of Waltham, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sawtelle, L. M. Plummer, Miss Florence Ellis of Portland.

In Camp Edgewood is Mrs. Ida Adams and family of Chelsea and she is entertaining Mr. and Mrs. George Ross of Boston, Mrs. Edward Burckett of Bradford, Bart Goddard and Walter Hodges of Chelsea.

In Camp Kineo is Mr. Harry Lappin and others of Portland. Camp O. M. O. B. is owned by Ed Burnham, but is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Coolbroth and family of Portland.

In Pulpit Rock cottage is Mr. Smith and family.

There are many others besides these and more campers out are arriving by every boat. The following persons are stopping at the Peaks Island house: John Hayden, wife and daughter, New York; William Segen and wife, New York; E. E. Sargent and wife, St. Johnsbury, Vt.; W. H. Smith, Boston; A. Steele, Sherbrooke; H. X. Delgrade, Boston; Mary Tobin, Maynard; Mary Murphy of Boston; Harvey Cole, Baltimore, E. A. Brooks, St. Johnsbury; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Williams, New York.

Peaks Island Attractions.

Thousands of people took advantage of the splendid attractions offered by the Casco Bay steamboat company at Peaks Island on Saturday. The steamer went down crowded afternoon and evening. The afternoon exhibition of Japanese fire works and balloons pleased all the little folks.

The fire works in the evening were all they were advertised to be. The immense throng of people were delighted with the whole exhibition. The golden fountain and other set pieces were triumphs of pyrotechnic skill. The managers of the fire works regret that there was a little delay in beginning the exhibition, the man who came from Boston was a little longer in getting the frames to put the set pieces on than was expected. Hereafter all outside attraction will begin as near the time advertised as the weather will permit.

The Casco Bay company will have another grand gala day next Saturday afternoon and evening. There will be another display of Japanese fireworks in the afternoon; those day fire works are especially designed to please the children but they are enjoyed just as much by grown people.

Masten and Wells, the great firework manufacturers of Boston, have been contracted to give an exhibition of fire works on the water, this exhibition is very unique and is similar to those given at Nantasket and Revere beaches. The exhibition will begin at half past eight which will be about as soon as it is dark enough to have the fire works show well. No matter how many thousands go down to this display Manager Godding will have steamers enough to take them home as soon as the fire works are over. Steamers will leave for the city after the fire works.

The Casco Bay company have secured at great expense the world renowned Dixon Brothers musical, clowns, who will give a free out-door performance every afternoon on the arrival of the 2.15 boat, and in the evening on the arrival of the 7.30 boat from the city.

Forest City Bunk.

If you want to see a thousand yards of carpet laid in nine minutes and a handsome sight in the throng of dancers or one of the smartest acts on a bicycle why go to the big rink on Peaks Island this evening. Mr. Gordon is to be congratulated for his pains taken in placing this great crowd that visit his popular place of amusement. Herbert and Lane are wonders and give a fine act. They are with us all the week afternoon and evening.

Great Diamond.

Ex-Mayor Melcher and family moved into their island home on Saturday. On next Thursday evening the Ways and Means society with Miss McCobb will give Mrs. Jarley's wax works in Elwell hall. The money realized by this performance will go towards the island fund.

The fire works which were purchased for July 4th, but not set off on that day because of the weather, were exhibited on Friday night of last week and generally enjoyed. As among the residents of Great Diamond there are many prominent Republicans, including J. H. Drummond, Jr., the candidate for state senator, the rest of the harbor was greatly surprised to see Great Diamond apparently celebrating the Democratic nomination at Chicago. But it was only a late edition of July 4th, though many Republicans feel like celebrating the Democratic split.

The next island entertainment will be a poster exhibition to be given by Messrs. Bryant and Rumery. The exhibition will be a take off on the poster card and the characters who will take part in original costumes promise a great treat.

Mr. R. Tobie of the Boston School of Technology is visiting Mr. Ralph Rumery.

The Yacht Cruiser took the members of Camp Columbia away on a cruise on Sunday.

OBITUARY.

Capt. John Edwin Jacobs.

Captain John Edwin Jacobs, who died at his home in this city Sunday evening, at the age of 84 years, was one of the oldest mariners of this port. He was born at St. Andrews, N. B., his parents having gone there from Portland at the time of the embargo. Very soon his parents returned to this city, and he made it his home for all the remainder of his life. When a boy of 18 or 19 years he shipped in the United States service and was on the United States frigate Potomac, under Commodore John Downes, and in February, 1832, participated in the attack on Quallah Batoo, a village of Sumatra, whose people were chastised because of outrages committed on an American vessel. After this he followed the sea, and several years previous to the civil war was a master stevedore at Mobile. When the war broke out he came north and took command of the coasting schooner Kate Aubrey. Captain Jacobs' wife was Miss Relief Moore, of this city. She died several years ago. A son and a daughter survive him, John Edwin Jacobs, Jr., of this city, and Miss Abbie L. Jacobs, teacher in the Butler school.

Captain Jacobs was a member of Portland Lodge of Mason.

The funeral services will occur this afternoon at 2 p. m. from his late residence No. 81 Clark street.

She was a descendant in direct line of Captain Wentworth Stuart of Gorham, who commanded a company in the Revolution in Col. Edmund Phelps's regiment and also a direct descendant of Rev. Solomon Lombard, first settled minister and first representative of Gorham in General court of Massachusetts.

Mr. Lombard was twice a delegate to the Provincial Congress and judge of the court of Common Pleas of Cumberland county from 1776 to 1781. Mrs. Jordan was a woman of strong Christian character and genial wit. She will live long in the memory of all who knew her well.

Presentation to Mr. Dillon.

Mr. Joseph Dillon, for the past four years assistant to Mr. Jones, chief of the weather bureau in this city, received notice last week from headquarters in Washington, to go to the Kansas City, Mo., office, and will leave for that city today. Yesterday Mr. Dillon's friends tendered him a dinner at Long Island, which was attended by many citizens. After dinner was served Mr. Robert F. Somers presented him in behalf of his friends, a handsome leather travelling case as a slight remembrance of his Portland friends. Mr. Dillon was somewhat surprised, but repaid feelingly. Mr. Dillon is one of the most efficient observers that has ever been stationed in Portland. Mr. Harmon of Washington has taken Mr. Dillon's place.

A Handsome Cup.

We hear that Mr. J. Hopkins Smith has decided to offer a handsome silver cup to be competed for by the third class or those under 35 feet—yachts of the Portland Yacht club squadron. Time and conditions of the race will be announced later.

A WISE MAN

gives this advice about Fire Insurance: "Don't buy Fire Insurance simply because it is cheap. Don't buy of the first agent who comes along simply because he looks all right and talks well."

Every man or woman who has property to insure should investigate the standing of the companies and patronize only the best. And what's more the time to insure your property is before it burns. You can't insure a pile of ashes. Accidents occur as well as conflagrations. We write accident policies and tickets as well as fire insurance. All in the leading companies.

GIVING IT TO SEWALL.

Democrats Recall Action of Falmouth Club.

Sewall's Position Was Then Repudiated—What Should Winslow Do?

There is no little perturbation in local Democratic circles over the nomination of Arthur Sewall, and the position in which E. B. Winslow finds himself in regard to the two platforms. The news of the nomination of Sewall was received with positive rage and disgust by many, especially by those members of the Falmouth Club who, a year ago, participated in administering a spanking to Sewall for his free silver views. On June 28, 1895 the club held a meeting. They had heard that Sewall had declared for silver. What they did was described as follows in the Argus next morning:

An enthusiastic meeting of the Falmouth Club was held last evening, and the following resolution drafted by Col. A. W. Bradbury and Dr. S. C. Gordon was unanimously adopted:

"Inasmuch as it might seem if they were allowed to go unchallenged that we approve the opinions touching the silver and currency questions recently promulgated by an official accredited by the Democratic party of Maine to the national committee, to it by the Falmouth Club of Portland.

Resolved: That we repudiate any utterances from any source that commit the Maine Democratic to free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1 or any other ratio and that we have no sympathy with any solemnly agreed upon by an authorized convention of the great money powers of the world.

That we cordially endorse the expressed views of President Cleveland cautioning the people against the silver heresy; and declare that the thanks of all good citizens are due Secretary Carlisle for his luminous exposition of the sound money principles of the Democratic party.

There is a strong sentiment in the Falmouth Club that Mr. Winslow in his forthcoming letter of acceptance should emphasize that he adheres to the Maine platform, and that he repudiates the Chicago platform. Some of the most prudent ones, however, think that he should content himself with silence in regard to the national platform.

The telegram said to have been sent by Mr. Arthur Sewall to the Morning Journal of New York, and which is printed in another column, had not been generally seen by local Democrats yesterday. That, coupled with Mr. Winslow's denial that he ever promised, as Mr. Sewall represents, did not tend to encourage lamb-like feelings among the Democrats who saw the despatch.

Harbor Notes.

The Nova Scotia schooner Trader of Shelburn, Captain Swim, cleared for Shelburn on Saturday and sailed Sunday morning. Captain Swim is a man fifty-six years of age. The gold withdrawals yesterday were $857,300, leaving a reserve at the close of business of $28,420,00.

REPUTATION AND CONFISCATION.

What Hon. George F. Emery Says of the Chicago Convention.

A Portland Democrat of the Straightest Set Revolt—No True Democracy in Platform or Candidates.

Hon. George F. Emery, one of the oldest and straightest of Maine Democrats, former clerk of the United States court and editor of the Boston Post, cannot stand the Chicago programme. This was his dialogue with a PRESS man yesterday:

"It is rumored that you do not propose to support the Chicago platform and nominees. If the rumor is well founded and if you have no objections to stating them, it would be gratifying to many of your friends, to learn the reasons for your proposed action.

"Certainly, I, have no objections, for the crisis demands of everyman a show of his colors, now as when the union was imperiled by armed secession. The present crisis is now more dangerous than in 1861, for then the worst was open and above board and it was only a question of time when it would be effectually quelled by patriotic men from all classes and political associations. The movement at Chicago is (without meaning it on the part of many) nothing short of repudiation, and confiscation under the proposed form of law, a stab at our national credit, robbery of depositors in our savings bank of nearly one half their honest dues, general impairment of all existing time contracts, and a stunning blow at labor and all industrial interests. The inspiration of the moment is the deadly virus of the communist, some of whose leaders are unblushing anarchists and revolutionists. That such a movement should receive endorsement of a so called Democratic convention is the most marvellous and disreputable chapter of party history ever recorded in our national annals. It will not and must not succeed. But to defeat it, men who think alike must act together as they did in that momentous struggle to save the union.

What action the Democrats who were practically voted out of the convention by the power of numbers vitally increased, by unseating a portion of the delegates clearly entitled to their seats, and thus crucifying Democracy in its own temple remains to be seen. What other old fashioned Democrats will do I know not. For one I propose casting my vote for such persons, by whatever name called, as nearest represent my sentiments. The issue is simply between a gold or silver standard, for one or the other must prevail, and no human power can prevent it. Bimetallism, in our present relations to other powers, is out of the question.

When I came upon the political stage I enrolled among the followers of Jackson and Benton who, after an intense and protracted struggle, gave the people an honest gold dollar in place of a "shinplaster" currency. When the war was upon us, and the proposition was projected to pay off our soldiers in paper promises instead of gold, every Democrat in Congress voted against it. I commended them for it. When the craze known as "Green-backism" swept over New England, at personal loss and sacrifice I battled against it with all the vigor and ability I could command. Since President Cleveland has shown his loyalty to Democratic principles by adhering to the gold standard and maintaining the national credit, I have honored him for that more than for all else accomplished under his administration. To soil my record now, humble as it is, by surrendering principles which have been my guide through life, and to stifle my convictions of duty in this hour of the country's greatest peril, I cannot and will not do, even though in the spirit of Tom Benton's proclamation on a momentary occasion, "solitary and alone I set this ball in motion." Said the eloquent champion who carried off the honor at Chicago, "you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold." So say we all. Neither shall communists and anarchists be permitted to strike down our national honor and public and private credit, their hands grasping concealed weapons in their bosom and with silver sabres dangling by their sides.

Capt. Allen and the Alert.

Capt. Allen of the yacht Alert has just been heard from. He spent Sunday a South Goudisboro, where he had a large gathering to welcome him. He reports his wife and baby well, and that they have engaged a small rent at Muscongus island, where they intend keeping house for the present. The yacht is too unstable and too active in the service to make a suitable home for mother and child. It will not take much to set up house keeping in their humble way, but a second hand stove and bedstead and chairs and table and rocker and bedding, &c., &c., will not come amiss. Should the friends of this missionary work have some article of furniture they can spare as well as not, will they kindly send word to F. Southworth, 108 Newbury street. Capt. Allen expects to be here the last of the week.

The ravages of army worms in East Harford, is so great that many farmers cut hay in the meadows yesterday. All the crop will be in this week to escape the pest. The worms are working northward. The loss so far is about one-third of the entire crop.

Loss of Half Million by Fire.

St. Louis, July 13.—At 5.15 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the Merchants' Terminal elevator at Bidde street and the levee. When the fire department arrived the building was a mass of flames. Assistant Chief Hines fell from a ladder and was fatally injured. The loss will be at least $500,000. The building contained thousands of bushels of wheat and this went up.

WHERE 35,000 WERE KILLED.

Further Particulars of the Awful Japan Disaster.

San Francisco, Cal., July 13.—The Tokio correspondent of the United Press, writing under date of June 23, describing the devastation wrought by the tidal wave on June 10, says that at half past eight o'clock.

In the evening the wave struck the northeast coast of the mainland, throughout a distance of about two hundred miles, and in five minutes 30,000 people were killed, 7500 injured, and 12,000 houses destroyed.

The general direction of the wave appears to have been north by east, or, after carrying devastation to the shore of the main island it left Yezo on the west, touching that island at Yermio cape only.

Several accounts agree that at about seven o'clock three or four shocks of earthquakes were felt, not violent, though of the vertical kind that folks in Japan dread. The barometer gave no indication of anything unusual. Some twenty or twenty-five minutes later a booming sound became audible from the direction of the sea. Only a very few suspected the real significance of the sound. Rapidly the noise increased until it assumed the volume and deafening din of a great park of artillery, and then in a moment waves from twenty to thirty feet high were thundering against the shore. That terrible totals at this moment of writhing are 20,073 killed, 7757 wounded and 7,844 houses washed away or wrecked. In the prefecture of Iwat were 30 towns and villages, 870 were males and 500 females were killed and 25,418 persons were killed and 6,774 wounded out of a total population of 104,771, so that of every three inhabitants one was killed or wounded.

Statistics from Miyagi prefecture show that out of 1,370 deaths in twenty villages, 870 were males and 500 females. The scene presented by the devastated districts is shocking. Along the beaches the timbers of wrecked houses lie piled upon each other, moss covered roofs of wretched shanties are visible. A few skeletons are scattered about their foundations, telegraph poles are scattered about, and down or heaped in shattered confusion.

Loss of Half Million by Fire. St. Louis, July 13.—At 5.15 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the Merchants' Terminal elevator at Bidde street and the levee. When the fire department arrived the building was a

TRUE BINETALLISM.

Gen. Walker Explains Its Status in the United States.

TELLS ENGLISHMEN SILVERITES ARE INFLATIONISTS.

Meeting of Binetallist League in London—Secretary's Report Quite Optimistic in Tone—Letters From President Alden-Hammond.

London, July 13.—At a meeting of the bi-metallic league today an address was delivered by Prof. Francis A. Walker, the American political economist. Prof. Walker was frequently interrupted by bursts of cheers. He declared that no gold mono-metallic party existed in the United States, and said he would stake his honor that if the bi-metallic convention was proposed to the United States by the principal sound money men of Europe, the Americans would tumble head over heels in welcoming the proposal. What the silverites really desired, he continued, was silver inflation. Widely separated from these men were the real bi-metallics of the United States. Nothing, Prof. Walker declared, could be more unfounded than to say that the Republican national convention had pronounced in favor of gold mono-metallicism. Mr. McKinley, he said, had never been a gold mono-metallic. The maintenance of the gold standard in the United States was not rendered a whit less secure by reason of anything done at the Chicago convention.

Despite much friendly advice from this side of the ocean, the United States were not going to pull other people's chestnuts out of the fire, and would remain devoted to the rehabilitation of silver as a money metal and always ready to make sacrifices to that end. The bonds of the United States, he added, would continue to be paid in gold or its equivalent. The credit of the United States would continue to be as high as it ever has been since she had triumphantly vindicated the national honor in the war of secession. Prof. Walker was vociferously cheered as he resumed his seat at the close of the address.

The annual report of the league was read by the secretary. It was quite optimistic in tone, declaring that bi-metallicism had made noteworthy progress in all the countries where the question had been discussed.

In conclusion the report said: "The responsibility for the present and growing dangers to the industrial life of nations rests upon those who oppose the monetary system under which our prosperity advanced by leaps and bounds." A letter from Lord Aldenham, president of the league and head of the firm of Anthony Gibbs & Sons, and a director of the Bank of England, congratulated the league upon the progress bi-metallicism had made in the world. He said it was a striking fact that the question of bi-metallicism, which in some quarters in England was treated with contempt, should have become the subject of a political question before the people of the United States.

The letter concluded with the declaration that the league might be the result of the approaching Presidential election in the United States the bi-metallicists could be sure that their cause was advanced.

A THIRD CONVENTION.

Call For One Issued By Gold Democrats of Illinois.

NEW YORK ORGANIZATION WONT SUPPORT SUCH A SCHEME.

Candidate Sewall Expresses His Views on the Labor Question—Says He Is a Friend of Organized Labor.

Chicago, July 13.—The honest money Democracy of Illinois, through its executive committee issued an address tonight to the Democrats of other states, calling upon them to nominate another national ticket, and adopt a platform of sound money, on which the nominees can appeal to those of that opinion. The call is signed by John M. Palmer, James Miller, Franklin McVeigh, Thomas A. Moran, John B. Hopkins, Henry S. Robbins, A. A. Goodrich, James T. Hoblitt and Adolph Kraus.

The pronouncements sets the pace for the East, but in the minds of the leaders there is not much faith that the party organizations, which sent gold delegates to the convention will declare for another convention. Much support for the new movement is expected from the middle and southern states. Candidates are freely spoken of, the most prominent being Carlisle, Palmer of Illinois and Morton of Iowa also mentioned.

From telegrams received today from Senator Hill and other party leaders in that state, it seems certain that the New York Democratic organization will not favor another convention. The Illinois gold Democrats received a setback today in the action of the Eastern Postmaster Hearing, leading member of that faction who said was opposed to a third ticket on the ground that it would mean the election of a silver candidate. Before leaving Chicago, Mr. Sewall denounced the attack made on him in a morning paper depicting him as a foe of organized labor. He said: "Any one acquainted with the history of Maine and her lumber and shipbuilding industries, knows that the house of Sewall has always been friendly to the laborer. We never had the slightest trouble, nor have we ever opposed union labor. I am an advocate of the cause of the laboring man. Our men have always been treated on that principle."

Chicago, July 13.—Hon. William J. Bryan reached the Clifton house this morning from the residence of Mrs. Bryan at South Paris, Me. and Sunday. He looked fresher and brighter after his day of uninterrupted rest.

In the lobby of the Clifton Mr. Bryan met Senator White of California, and the other members of the sub-committee on notification, who had come by appointment to have a chat about the arrangement for giving formal notice of Mr. Bryan's selection.

Mr. Arthur Sewall, the Vice Presidential candidate, was also present, and after Mr. Bryan and his wife shaking hands with the score of people who had gathered about him in the lobby, he and his wife went to the hotel where the Presidential candidates had their headquarters during the convention week.

The sub-committee spent an hour with Mr. Bryan and Mr. Sewall, and the result of their talk was determination to postpone the date of notification until some time after July 21, the date first named.

The members of the sub-committee said after the meeting that the date would undoubtedly be during the second week in August, and that New York would be the place where the election would be held.

It was Mr. Bryan's suggestion that the notification should be in the metropolis and everything indicates that no change will be made.

Mr. Bryan told the committee that he wanted to change his plans and would like to go to Salem and then to his home in Lincoln as soon as possible. Mr. Bryan will accompany her husband to Salem and Lincoln.

Mr. Sewall leaves for Bath tonight. To Welcome Candidate Sewall Home.

Bath, July 13.—A large and enthusiastic meeting was called today morning by Mayor Bibber for the purpose of making the arrangements for receiving Arthur Sewall, who is expected home in a few days from Chicago. Hon. J. O. Patton presided. It was decided to place the celebration in the hands of the Democratic and Republican city committees.

AGAINST HIS CONVICTIONS.

Senator Gray Tells Why He Cannot Support the Chicago Platform.

Wilmingon, Del., July 13.—Senator George Gray, who was a delegate to the Democratic national convention, and who did not vote for the Chicago platform, today asked his views on the platform and the nomination of Bryan for President: "The financial plank of the platform," said he, "is contrary to all my beliefs, and on what I consider sound Democracy. I cannot change those beliefs even at the bidding of a Democratic national convention. Convictions cannot be compromised. The Delaware Democracy is distinct from the national Democracy. It is too early to say what its course will be. The Democracy in this state has always had, and is likely to continue to have, strong sympathy with that of New York, New Jersey and Maryland."

GREAT COMMERCIAL DISASTER.

Delegate Goldthwaite Says Free Coinage Would Entail.

Yet He Isn't Sure But He Will Vote It By Voting For It.

[SPECIAL TO THE PRESS.]

Biddeford, July 13.—Tristram Goldthwaite, who represented the First Maine district at Chicago, was seen by a PRESS correspondent tonight, shortly after his arrival home. He was not very talkative, that is for publication, but was willing to be quoted as saying that his action in voting to vote candidates on a free silver platform was in accord with his best judgment as sound money man, representing a district whose convention had declared unanimously against free coinage.

"I believe," said he "that to adopt the free coinage of silver on a basis of 16 to 1, would bring upon this country greater commercial disaster than it ever experienced. I am a Democrat and will remain so as long as the Democratic party exists, but I believe the action of last week's convention will result in Democratic defeat, more complete than was the defeat of Horace Greeley."

Mr. Goldthwaite declined to say whether he would vote the national ticket.

The state committee will, within a few days meet in Portland to formulate some plank of united action for the gold faction of the party. So far as Mr. Goldthwaite can judge, the state committee will not follow the advice of Mayor Hanson of Belfast, and call a new state convention.

WONT PRESIDE.

Senator Hill Evidently Hasn't Made Up With the Popocrats.

New York, July 13.—An Albany special says: Senator Hill said this afternoon in regard to the story that he would preside at the meeting in Madison Square garden when the Chicago candidates are to be notified: "I know nothing about the meeting and am not going to preside. I have not given out since I left Chicago any expression of my views concerning the candidates or platform. I have nothing further to say of the situation."

Harry Glad He Is Out of It.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 13.—Ex-Chairman Harry of the Democratic national convention, passed through Harrisburg on his way to Philadelphia from Chicago. He did not care to talk politics and said he was not at present interested in the outcome of the gold Democrats. "One thing I will say," remarked Mr. Harry, "I am glad I am out of the national chairmanship. I cannot say whether he has hands full before he gets through this campaign."

AUGUSTUS SAWYER'S MURDERER.

A Lewiston Detective Tells Rather a Fishy Story Regarding Detection of Guilty One.

Lewiston, July 13.—Detective Fred L. Odlin claims to have discovered the identity of the murderer of Augustus Sawyer of Monmouth, who was killed in his barn at Monmouth, May 19, 1894. An autopsy showed that Sawyer was killed by the bullet from a 32-calibre revolver, which pierced his head near the upper lip and the brain near the base.

He had the reputation of being a miserly man of wealth and after his death his heirs found about $12,000 in money in the house. It was immediately reported that he had been killed for his money by some one who knew something of his habits.

Less than a week ago Odlin was in Monmouth and claims to have found the connecting link of a long chain of evidence, which really convicts a man who is now out of the reach of the law because he is now serving a long sentence in a state prison and in all probability when he is released he will be old and gray headed.

The man in question was in Monmouth, Saturday May 19, 1894, and at a certain hour he stood inside the door of the barn while Augustus Sawyer stood in the tie-up of the barn.

In the man's pocket not many hours after, was found a revolver of the 32-calibre kind, and there was one empty shell in a chamber. All the other chambers were full—though one unexploded cartridge had been tapped by the trigger. Mr. Odlin can prove this much and even has the revolver in his possession.

RATHER EMOTIONAL.

B. F. Mills Calls Cleveland Bad Names.

BECAUSE OF GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE TOWARDS TURKEY.

Weak, Wicked, Barbaric, Criminal, Some of the Adjectives Used—His Audience Heartily Cheers His Stand—Closing Day of Convention.

Washington, July 13.—The last day's session of the fifteenth international Christian Endeavor convention began today at the appointed hour in the three white tents, simultaneously, after the usual sunrise prayer meeting, President Clark, Treasurer Shaw and Trustee Wayland Hoyt presiding. It was a day reserved for missionaries.

Addresses were made in tents Williston and Endeavor by a number of foreign delegates, India, China and Africa, Asia, England and the countries of Continental Europe being represented. Among other missionaries, Goll of Africa, Rutnam of India, Bintley of China and Hildner of Germany.

The chief interest of the day centered in the Armenian demonstration in Tent Washington. An Armenian relief committee has been at work all the week stirring up enthusiasm among the delegates. Special Armenian relief flags and badges have been spread over the city, and they appear everywhere in the decorations in street cars and on the head dress and lapels of the delegates. Three Armenian missionaries are here, one the Secretary Green of the national relief committee, and the others being Margaret Leitch of Ceylon and Rebecca Kirkcaldy of Turkey.

At the same meeting Evangelist Mills, described the battles and cunning of the Sultan, showing him to be a man of great ability, and then said: "I have no doubt that these massacres in Armenia were planned and carried out by the Sultan for his own purpose."

Mr. Mills laid the blame for the atrocities at the door of the Christian nations. He declared that England stood purged today before God and the nations for failure to prevent them.

"England," said he, "who held up her hands and swore to protect the Turkish Christians, has broken her vows and the blood of those who died in Armenia is upon her hands." (Great cheering.) He showed that respectability rested upon the government of the United States. She had more direct cause than England to interfere. Yet she scarcely asked for an apology. "May," he minister has even warned American missionaries to get out of Turkey, as he should not be able to protect them." (Hisses.) How glorious was their answer. "We will stay here with our people." (Applause and hisses.)

He explained how the British ambassador had been expelled from the missionaries so that they were allowed to continue their work unmolested. "That was the only reason they were not expelled," he said, "and our noble President on one of his fishing expeditions, wandered into Turkish domains, and had so much as a tiny little bullet from the Turk's play pistol passed through his ear. Americans would have found it some of our business to interfere in Turkish affairs." (Great applause and laughter.)

I charge the government of the United States with misrepresentation of the enlightened sentiment of the American people in this Armenian question. The President of the United States, Secretary of State and American minister have disregarded our broken treaties. They have permitted American lives to be endangered, they have permitted American property to be destroyed without reparation, and American citizens to be imprisoned.

Our government has stirred the passions of the American people to anger against England on a thousandth part of the pretext that would have sufficed for a century of misadventure. The administration officers have turned a deaf ear, and a most scornful ear to the entreaties and representations of some of our best citizens, missionaries, churches and moral societies. I denounce their conduct as unpatriotic, uncivil, undemocratic, unchristian, un-American, un-Christian, selfish, weak, wicked, barbaric and criminal, in the eyes of the American people and of God and all men."

Every word almost, of the last two sentences of Mr. Mills was greeted by a loud cheer. Men and women on the platform behind him and in the benches before him, rose and shouted hearty approval of his denunciation of President Cleveland. He was the chief executive, the Secretary of State and the Turkish minister, the whole audience arose spontaneously waving flags and banners and crying aloud their approval.

At the end of his speech, six rousing cheers of approval were given. Rev. Wayland Hoyt, who presided arose in his seat beside the speaker, and called upon the audience to reaffirm the charge, and again came the six cheers, with hearty enthusiasm.

"I hope that response will echo through the empty White House and attend to Buzzard's Bay," cried Mr. Mills as he took his seat.

Rev. B. Fay Mills also addressed an open meeting, as follows:

I would ask your most prayerful attention to the thoughts that are suggested in the prayer we have prayed so frequently, as recorded in the sixth chapter of Matthew, tenth verse: "May Thy kingdom come as it is in heaven." We have all said it hundreds of times; and of all the millions that have ever prayed it how many have ever really expected the answer? How many people have applied to it the principle that Jesus taught when he said: Whatsoever things ye desire when ye pray, believe that ye have received them, and ye shall have them." The things we, and that are God's kingdom may come, and that His will may be done on earth as it is in heaven. Now, we know what the popular idea of heaven has been in the past. I doubt whether there is any popular idea of heaven now prevalent among the people. I scarcely

THE REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN.

Chairman Names His Assistants and Outlines His Plans.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 13.—After nearly a month of careful consideration, Chairman Hanna of the National committee, has named the executive committee and advisers in managing McKinley's campaign. The list contains the names of M. A. Hanna, chairman; M. S. Quay, Joseph Manly, H. O. Payne, Wisconsin; Cyrus Leland, Kansas; Powell Clayton, Arkansas; C. G. Dawes, Illinois; W. D. Parlin, Indiana. Wm. Osborn of Boston is made secretary of the committee. The committee will meet in this city Wednesday. "I am now preparing for the fight," Hanna said today with the air of a man who is confident of winning. We think that the Western and Southern States are the delta of the grounds, and we shall go into the contest with that idea. In this campaign there are more issues than tariffs and the money question, which are of fully as much importance as the other two and which if anything, concern the maintenance of our government more than these two issues. I refer particularly to the stability of the judicial system which is threatened by the Democratic party in their platform.

Troubles Begun Early.

Thomaston, July 13.—The opening game of the Knox County league Rockland vs. Thomaston was stopped today by the Thomaston in the seventh inning on account of the umpire's very unjust decision. Score—Thomaston, 7; Rockland, 7. Errors—Thomaston, 4; Rockland, 5. The umpire gave the game to Rockland 9 to 0.

Baseball Notes.

Umpire Hurst, at Cleveland, yesterday, received a telegram from President Young, instructing him that Tebeau was ineligible to play and telling him the game was liable to protest. Tebeau went into court and an injunction was issued against Hurst restraining him from interfering with Tebeau. Restraining orders were served on Irwin and Gleason, enjoining them from collecting the fine levied on Tebeau. Irwin decided to take the chance on being in contempt of court and protested the game. The chances are that he will be arrested because of the game. The Western association will be dissolved within a week or two. If it should, a good many promising players will be thrown on the market.

The Murphy Balsams play in Newport, R. I., next Wednesday. Another series of home games opens tomorrow, Fall River being first on the list.

HOW HE REGAINED HIS VALISE.

Listened to the Advice of the Crowd and Then Took His Own Way.

It was an hour after midnight when he tolled up the steps of the Alley "L," carrying a valise. Instead of putting it down on the platform while he was waiting for the train he placed it on the railing and rested his elbow on it.

Of course, while he was in that position some one brushed against him, and the grip took a tumble to the roof of a low building 12 feet below. Instantly every one on the platform was on the spot asking what had happened, some of them sympathizing, some snickering and nearly all offering suggestions.

The fat man held out a cane with a curved handle and said, "If you could tie a rope to this you might hook it into the handle of the grip and pull it up." Strange to say, no one had a clothline in his vest pocket, and so that idea had to be passed up.

"You'll have to wait till morning," said another, "and get the people who own the building to let you get up on the roof."

"Better notify the police," suggested another. This seemed to gain the approval of the crowd except one man, who thought it would be a good idea to tell the ticket seller about it, which he immediately started to do.

All this time the man who owned the grip said not a word, but calmly waited until the crowd had exhausted its stock of suggestions. Then he turned to a colored youth and asked him if he could climb. The boy answered in the affirmative, and then the man said, "I'll give you a quarter if you will climb down that iron support and bring up my grip."

In less than a minute the valise was in the owner's hands, and the others were wondering why they didn't think of that themselves.—Chicago Tribune.

Maine Representatives of the Unterrified Back from Chicago.

The Gold Bugs Disgusted and the Silverites Jubilant.

The Recent Converts Are the Noisiest Bryan and Sewall Shouters—Some Went Out for Gold but Came Back Silver Plated—How the Ice Water Man Yelled into Winslow's Ear—Hot Shot from Holman—How Sewall's Nomination Came Around—Some Convention History.

The Maine delegation to the Chicago circus has returned, the gold contingent weather beaten, storm tossed and sore, the silver contingent exultant, and the third element; the men elected as gold men by a gold convention but who couldn't withstand the seductive music of the silver tongue and orchestra and flopped, the loudest and wildest in their proclamations of the virtues and beneficence of the new silverized-Till.

No wild Comanches of the plains ever approached in yelling and screeching faculties, those wild silverites of fair Louisiana. The man Marston, the ice water hero, was right side of me, and he was easily first among the shouters. He fairly climbed all over me in his periodical silver fits. The drums of my ears are deafened in from the concussion of his voice. Mr. Winslow was extremely popular with the delegates. They all call him Governor.

Dr. Gordon looked smiling and healthy and as brown as a berry. The Doctor has attended to many cases of severe hysteria to be frightened by the worst form of silver lunacy. In fact the Doctor is perhaps inclined to think there may possibly be some good effects from an attack of the disease. At any rate he says "anybody who calls these silver men cranks or fanatics is a fool." The Doctor says that Bryan will very likely come to Maine and speak, and if he does he'll set the people wild. The Doctor left the train at Fryeburg and was given three cheers and presented with the guidon of the delegation.

John Scott of Bath was there, silver plated and jubilant. He was sent as a delegate from that gold convention at Portland, but they sent a red hot silver man. That's one on the convention. Mr. Scott told the convention about the whispering pines of Maine that were going to dance with delicious silver joy along with the festive sunflower of Nebraska. The yellow color of the sunflower is against it though. Delegates Warren, Sawyer and Plaisted are a non participant, through all that whirlwind of silverism.

"I am nearly deaf," said the genial candidate for governor. "I sat directly in front of the delegation from Louisiana."

The delegation returned over the Mountain division of the Maine Central last night. A PRESS man boarded the train at Bartlett and made the last part of the trip with them. The delegation as a whole were looking well.

Hon. Edward B. Winslow looked tired out, and well he might be, for it has been a week of especially trying times to him. Nominated for governor on a gold platform, it does seem a little cruel to think of him sitting there, a non participant, through all that whirlwind of silverism.

"I am nearly deaf," said the genial candidate for governor. "I sat directly in front of the delegation from Louisiana."

The War Eagle of York was in excellent health. He is still pure gold. Not a feather of his Democratic plumage was touched by silver. Be it to his eternal credit.

C. Vey Holman was there, as full of interesting information of the great convention as a nut is full of meat. He fought bravely for gold and religious liberty, and he still sticks to the gold standard. There's no Sewallizing him.

Lawyer Deasy of Bar Harbor was another gold man who came back beaten but proud of his allegiance.

Fred Emory Bone was there in a meditative frame of mind. He didn't look happy. He was probably thinking of days to come for the state committee.

Here is how the delegation voted: Gordon, Winslow, Snow, Beane, Sherman, for Pattison on three ballots. Plaisted and Warren for Bryan all the time.

Scott and Warren for Bland on three ballots and then for Bryan.

The Maine delegation will be kept busy for sometime explaining. Maine has not begun to recover from the shock of surprise occasioned by Sewall's nomination. Time for reflection does not deprecate the wonder. The delegation will be asked to explain why it allowed the nomination without protest, for a man whom it had been elected to dethrone from the national committee and whose defeat was promptly executed almost as soon as Chicago was reached. The man who apparently is responsible for Maine's acquiescence and assistance in Sewall's nomination, is Seth C. Gordon, the gold chairman of the delegation and the man who himself succeeded Sewall on the national committee. Dr. Gordon says that he did it as a matter of state pride, though it is difficult to see how this is figured out, as state pride did not prevent the ousting of Sewall from the national committee. Dr. Gordon says that but five members of the delegation were present when the ballot for Vice-President was taken. Three of those men, silver men, would have voted for Sewall anyway. He consulted with his colleague R. B. Winslow, candidate for governor, and then addressing the chair, said in effect, "That only a portion of the Maine delegation was present and that a majority of the delegation was for gold and opposed to the views of Sewall, but as a matter of state pride he would cast the entire vote of the delegation as a purely complimentary vote for Mr. Sewall. This he continued to do until he was nominated. The doctor goes further and says that of the candidates named Mr. Sewall was unquestionably the best.

A number of the delegation did not attend the convention, among them, Capt. L. S. Sherman, a firm gold man, who says he told Gordon in the morning he would not attend the convention because he would under no condition vote for Vice-President. Imagine his surprise when with C. Vey Holman, he saw posted a bulletin saying "Maine's entire national platform. He says he has not exchanged a word with Sewall on the subject whatever.

Sewall's scheme is to have the state committee call a new state convention which will be asked to endorse Bryan and Sewall and adopt a silver plank in place of the gold one which was so recently set forth as the settled conviction of the Maine Democracy. If he thinks the Maine party will consent to this reckless without his host. The name of Sewall is far from a name to conjure with among Maine Democrats. Judging from the sentiments freely expressed such a thing would not be within the bounds of a possibility. I have not heard of a prominent gold Democrat in Maine yet who has endorsed the ticket, while the well-known Democrats who have already publicly repudiated the ticket are numbered by the score. How bitterly the strong gold members of the delegation feel in this matter can be seen from the following sentiments:

C. VEY HOLMAN, ESQ., of Rockland who was on the committee on resolutions, and who has been a steadfast champion of gold throughout the convention, said, "I can say, with Senator Hill, 'I am a Democrat, but I am not a revolutionist.' Further than that, I am no opportunist. I am a poor hand at leaping upon bandwagon that happens to move in directions opposite to the line of my convictions. It seems evident that eastern Democrats have been unnecessarily misled by the error made in reporting the action of the Maine delegation as unanimous on the selection of a Vice-Presidential candidate when will create no Maine enthusiasm, he will not head any Dirigo uprising. If any Maine gold Democrats are going to vote for him they are not making themselves conspicuous.

SARGENT, THE ARTIST.

The high reputation of John Singer Sargent makes him one of the most prominent figures in the modern world of art. No American artist has occupied such an exalted position as he has attained before reaching his fortieth year; none is more celebrated in Paris, London and the other art centers of Europe. He has painted some of his best portraits in the United States, and "La Carmencita," the picture which represents him in the famous Luxembourg gallery in Paris, was painted in New York and first publicly shown at the exhibition of the Society of American Artists. His career has been a cosmopolitan one, and his youth was passed among surroundings very different from those that affect the intellectual bent of most American boys who become painters and sculptors.

He was born in Florence, Italy, in 1856, and his parents had gone to live some years before. His father was Dr. Fitz Hugh Sargent, a Boston physician, and his mother, whose maiden name was Newbold, and who belonged to a well known family of Philadelphia, possessed the accomplishment of painting very cleverly in water colors. Educated partly in Italy and partly in Germany young Sargent entered the Academy of Fine Arts at Florence at a comparatively early age and before he was 18 had spent several years in study. He learned to paint in water colors as well as to draw with the pencil or charcoal, and one summer, when he was in the Tyrol with his mother, Frederick Leighton, not yet a peer and president of the Royal Academy, but a famous English artist notwithstanding, meeting them, commended the boy's work and counseled him to continue the study of painting.

The serious and earnest side of Sargent's character always impressed his fellow students in those Latin Quarter days. He had no taste for dissipation, though he was by no means puritanical. The lighter side of his temperament found satisfaction in music, the theater and literature and in the keen appreciation of everything in the tastes and amusements of the day that had a new or original flavor. Though an eager reader, he was not a bookman, but an observer. Alert is the adjective which perhaps best expresses the quality of his predominating characteristic. He was quick to see and ready to absorb everything that struck him as novel.—"Sargent and His Painting," by William A. Coffin, in Century.

A Pressing Engagement.

He was well nigh exhausted, but with indomitable resolution he pressed steadily on.

For he knew she was a Chicago girl and liked a hug better than a grizzly bear.—New York Press.

Not a Desirable Invention.

"Do you have a telephone in your house?" "No, I sometimes have to work at the office at night, and if I had a phone at home my wife would call me up every three minutes to see if I was there."—Chicago Record.

Personally I should consider such a movement absolutely and unqualifiedly commendable. I would not only stultify ourselves as individuals, but as a party and entirely destroy the availability of Hon. E. B. Winslow's candidacy for the governorship. Mr. Winslow today occupies a most enviable position in the esteem of the citizens of the state, for his sound conservatism and thorough honesty. This reputation deserved and honored would be undermined completely by a demonstration of the fact that he could be swayed from his convictions to suit the shifting purposes of party managers or to fit the inconsistencies of conflicting platforms. On the other hand the idea of his withdrawal as suggested by the Populist leader, Bateman, ought to be met with a prompt storm of reprobation and disapproval so strong as to forever silence any further intimation of such a purpose."

"A state Democracy which so forcibly expressed its opinion of Mr. Sewall's unsoundness in finance by the choice of the delegation to Chicago and by its repeated condemnation of him in the public prints in the recent past, is hardly in a frame of mind to cordially receive an invitation to meet again in state convention to repudiate its settled and honorable views already expressed to aid the private political fortunes of Arthur Sewall. If the Democracy of Maine swallows Mr. Sewall at all, he should be profoundly grateful and not ask them to make the mouthful still more unsavory."

Said another disgusted delegate: Here is a situation of a man repudiated by his party in the state and dropped from the National committee named for the great office of Vice President; a president of numerous banks he is pledged to destroy, director of numerous highly protected industries, ex-railroad magnate, aristocrat, the very antithesis of a "Man of the people," called to be a leader in what is promised by its anarchistic godfathers to be a great "uprising of the people." In plain English the Chicago convention has been fooled. Mr. Sewall is a very respectable and exclusive member of society. He will tap no "bar's." He will create no Maine enthusiasm, he will not head any Dirigo uprising. If any Maine gold Democrats are going to vote for him they are not making themselves conspicuous.

TUESDAY JULY 14.

The Socialists of Germany may be excused for assuming that a victory for the red flag has been won at Chicago.

The Massachusetts delegation returned from Chicago much dejected. The Maine men seem to have come back dejected.

Bland proposes to go back to Congress, where he can make more noise for silver than he could have in the Presidential chair, even.

The price of silver has actually fallen since the nomination of Bryan and Sewall. This betrays little faith in the doctors that have been called to the case.

The use of telegraph wire cut into bits instead of shot is one of the devices to which necessity has driven the Cubans. This recalls the fact that the Confederates in our civil war sometimes used board-nails. It was such a missile that wounded General Hancock on the third day at Gettysburg.

It is said that George Fred Williams would have received the nomination for second place on the ticket, had not the Massachusetts delegates resisted so bluntly when the proposition was made to them. The Maine delegation seem to have been as little pleased with Mr. Sewall, but consented to vote for him merely in a "complimentary" way.

The Democratic party cannot appreciate yet what a funny thing they have done in making Arthur Sewall the running mate of Bryan, the populist denouncer of corporations and of the men who grow rich by manipulating corporate property. If Mr. Bryan will come East and interview the Hon. Frank Jones, of Portsmouth, the latter may be able to explain to him how funny the situation really is.

Judge Holman, of Indiana, the great "Objector," is likely to return to the Fifty-fifth Congress. The old district, which he represented for nearly a quarter of a century, has been cut up by redistricting; but Judge Holman has been left in an overwhelming Democratic district. It is said that his nomination will be made by acclamation, and his election will probably follow. He was very strong in his old district, and nothing but the tidal wave of 1894 could have disturbed him.

It seems that the sending of the cruiser Columbia to participate in the celebration at Castine was something of an innovation. It has been the policy of the navy department not to detail single vessels from the squadron for such purposes, it being the belief of naval men that the manoeuvres are too important to be broken into for "pleonics," as they call the local celebrations. Secretary Herbert, however, takes the ground that the navy belongs to the people, and that a vessel can be spared to go to Castine as well as the fleet can be spared to drop in to Newport or Bar Harbor two or three times during a summer.

The secondary elections which took place in Belgium yesterday are interesting on account of the struggle between socialism and conservatism. Belgium has had a long and bitter struggle over her public school system. The liberal party, which has been the champion of the public schools, found itself in such a position that many of its members felt it their duty to throw their votes to the clerical candidates, in order to prevent a triumph of the socialists. But the clericals in two years have used the power in such a way that many liberals, in order to throw off the domination of the priests, determined to vote for the socialist candidates. For a week many leading liberal journals have been arguing that socialism was preferable to the reactionary policy of the clericals.

The New York Journal publishes a telegram which purports to have been sent from Chicago Saturday by Mr. Sewall. The telegram is as follows:
"My attitude upon the platform is well known. I was one of those who signed the minority report in favor of Daniel, and think that not defines my position upon the issue of the campaign."

If we can undo the work in Maine which has already been done, I believe I will be able to carry the State. The State Convention of Maine has been held and has nominated a ticket on a gold platform.
The gentleman who is the candidate for Governor is all that can be desired, and he assures me that he will stand upon the platform adopted by this convention. We shall, under these conditions, fight in Maine with good prospects of success.
ARTHUR SEWALL.
This telegram indicates that there is to be a ripping up of old work as soon as the boys get home. The federal office holders and other gold-bugs would do well to get their guns.

CURRENT COMMENT.

RESIGNATION.

(Eastern Argus.)
Our National Democratic Convention having selected candidates for President and Vice President, we place their names at the head of our columns in accord with our invariable custom. We have heretofore, justly, in support of the "free silver" policy, but the Convention has decided for it and we acquiesce, that being the Democratic doctrine, because any other course would lead to the employment of force, which is the ready method of despots.

For our State campaign we happily are heartily in support of our popular candidates from Governor down, and every indication points to a full vote and we fondly hope to a reasonable measure of success.

MR. SEWALL'S NOMINATION.

(Boston Herald.)
From a political point of view the nomination of Mr. Sewall is weak. In turning to Maine for the second name on the ticket, the managers of the Democratic campaign have made a bad blunder. They have nothing to hope from that state. In presidential contests Maine has always been faithful to the Republican party, and there is not the slightest prospect that in the present contest she will turn aside from the well worn path. If the Bryan managers were good strategists, they would have recognized that the true line of choice lay in the disputable section of the country, where, by enlisting state pride and local influence for their ticket, they might turn a dubious balance in their favor and gain electoral votes. This chance they have now thrown away, and in doing so they have shown an astounding lack of political capacity, which, we are glad to say, augurs ill for their conduct of the campaign.

(Boston Advertiser.)
It is to be doubted that the man from Maine will really, in the long run and in the end, prove himself to be a source of strength. There is not any slightest remotest chance of his securing the electoral vote of the Free State. Maine has never once, since the Civil War, gone Democratic in a Presidential year. It has very seldom done so in any other year. This year the chances of its doing so are more remote than ever. The influence of Speaker Reed, whom the voters of Maine admire, love and honor with the same degree of enthusiastic loyalty that was so long given to James G. Blaine, would alone suffice to keep that Great State in the Republican ranks; for Reed will make a splendid and unwavering light for McKinley and Hobart. Yet without any fight at all, the Republican majority there would certainly be immense. Thousands of sound money Maine Democrats will refuse to support the platform of repudiation and business paralysis. Three of the delegates from the State published a card addressed to Chairman White, in which they indignantly denied the assertion that their delegation voted solidly for Sewall, declaring that while they esteemed their fellow citizen personally, they could and they did take no part in nominating any man on such a platform as had been adopted. In those parts of the country where the populist fever rages most virulently, Mr. Sewall's banking and railway affiliations will be looked upon with no good will; while his association with the populist denouncer of corporations and of the men who grow rich by manipulating corporate property, will make him persona non grata with all "tariff reform" Democrats.

(Providence Journal.)
Mr. Arthur Sewall's record and views are in some respect ridiculously out of harmony with the platform on which he has been nominated. An Eastern capitalist, intimately connected with railway and banking corporations, a protectionist and a bitter opponent of an income tax, he belongs conspicuously to the very classes which the Socialistic convention at Chicago declared itself in favor of despoiling. In one sense, however, his nomination is a fitting one. He is a professional politician, and he has been notoriously disloyal to Democratic principles; and for that reason there is a certain special propriety in his nomination by a national Democratic convention which disavowed all every decent Democratic tradition.

A Sound-Money Hotel Man.
(White Mountain Echo.)
When the Maine delegation to the Chicago Convention were en route to the "Windy City" they partook of a meal at the Falyan house. Previous to departure they drew up at the "Captain's office" for payment, when they found Col. George F. Falyan on hand. "How much?" asked the first comer. "Two dollars," replied the astonished Colonel. "Why two dollars?" asked the second. "You two dollars," said the Colonel, and then, with an amused smile at the long faces of his guests, added, "Yes, two dollars if you pay on a silver basis, but one dollar if on a gold basis or in greenbacks." His guests on this occasion preferred the gold standard, and paid accordingly. Evidently friend Grant is sound as a financier.

STATE TOPICS OF INTEREST.

Formal services in connection with the breaking of ground for the church at Good Will Farm, took place at Fairfield Saturday morning. The congregation sang "At the Cross." The fifth Psalm was read by Franklin D. Elmer of the University of Chicago, and prayer was offered by G. W. Hinckley. The congregation sang "My Faith Looks Up to Thee." Mr. Hinckley made a brief address, in which he emphasized the relation between home, school and church. He announced that the donor of the church was present and that she had chosen the one who should turn the first turf. The turf was then cut, and Supervisor Hinckley's daughter Faith, five years old, took the spade and completed the work of turf turning. It is expected that work on the church will go forward rapidly.

At the continued hearing at Augusta in the case of the ill-fated steamer, Samuel Cooper, of Boston, who at his arrest gave his name as Harry Sanders, he waived examination and was placed in $500 bonds to appear before the grand jury at the September term of court. Bonds were later furnished, and he left, as he said, for Boston, with a woman said to be his wife.

Caribou has got enough of running a Fourth of July celebration all alone and now thinks that the North Arctostock trio, Caribou, Presque Isle and Fort Fairfield, ought to unite in a big celebration each year, the three villages taking turns for the holding of the celebrations.

A five-year-old in Dover was taken to a dentist's the other day and had three teeth extracted. He behaved so nicely that the dentist gave the boy a dime as he was leaving the office. That dime bought some nice candy, and when the boy wanted some money for fire crackers for the Fourth, with genuine Yankee instinct he betook himself to the dentist and asked to have some more teeth extracted.

At the Maine Central Institute alumni meeting recently held at Pittsfield the subject of repairing the hall in upper story of the institute building was talked over. The work would necessarily be expensive, and at the least calculation would require $5,000. Hon. Lewellyn Powers and Attorney General Powers told the committee that if the committee would raise $3,000, the rest of the amount would be forthcoming.

A Waterville man was driving along slowly on the Vassalboro road when he noticed in the road in front of his horse a monster mud turtle. He pulled up his horse to take a better look at the turtle as he passed it and imagine his surprise when the carriage was opposite to see the turtle set its jaws on to the rim of the wheel with a savage snap. The wheel was moving and the turtle was taken off the ground, but continued a firm hold on the wheel till he was carried nearly over the axle, when by the sharp twist in the neck it was forced to let go and fall to the ground.

The crop bulletin of the Board of Agriculture, just issued, gives the following averages of the state: Condition of hay crop, 70 per cent; condition of pasture, 81 per cent; amount of selling crops, 11 per cent; condition of oats, 98 per cent; mixed grain, 96 per cent; barley, 99 per cent; rye, 85 per cent; sweet corn, 82 per cent; yellow corn, 95 per cent; potatoes, 93 per cent; apples, 103 per cent; plums, 87 per cent; strawberries, 82 per cent; raspberries, 67 per cent; blackberries, 99 per cent; other small fruit, 86 per cent.

SHOT TWO AND HIMSELF.

Would-be Murderer Shot at His Wife and a Man and Then Committed Suicide.

Arthur Le Montague, a French laborer at Caswell Mills, near Lowell, shot his wife in the head twice Sunday noon. Le Montague left the house, and meeting Fred Boulanger, section boss of the Canadian Pacific railway, fired three shots, dangerously wounding him in the head. Boulanger will probably recover. The woman will die. Insane jealousy was the cause. Le Montague then shot himself under the right ear, dying instantly.

James White was fined $5 yesterday morning for allowing his cows to browse on the lawn in front of the Union station.

Cookson, the colored steward of the Bay State, was before Judge Robinson yesterday morning. He pleaded not guilty for the larceny of ear drops valued at $500, and his case was continued until Wednesday morning. He was required to furnish bail in the sum of $500, but could find no bondsmen.

Insufficient evidence was presented against Jacob Johnson, charged with evading fare on the Bay State and Johnson was discharged.

Michael O'Keefe and John F. Kell, alias Green, alias Cunningham, for larceny for the tug boats Belknap and Warren, were bound over in the sum of $400 for their appearance before the grand jury in September. They failed to furnish bonds.

ANOTHER HOT ONE.

The thermometer registered from 90 to 94, according to location yesterday. The weather bureau's glass marked 90. At Union wharf several longshoremen were obliged to stop work unloading coal from a vessel. John Cummings, a longshoreman, was overcome by the heat and was taken to his home. His case is not a serious one for he recovered soon after reaching his home.

A jug of molasses was noticed in front of W. L. Wilson & Co.'s store. It stood in the sun and the molasses was boiling out of it.

OLDTOWN'S PARK.

The negotiations for the purchase of land on Main street, Oldtown, known as the Bradbury lot for a city park, has been stopped by an injunction, which was issued by Chief Justice Peters of the Supreme court.

The ground upon which the injunction was obtained is that at the time the vote was taken and the order passed, Alderman G. Gilmore Weld, "was peculiarly interested in the result of said vote, to wit, was the owner of the real estate and the vote of said Weld was then and there decisive."

The large and roomy cottage belonging to the Maine Eighth Regiment association, situated in a most beautiful spot commanding a view of the White Head channel and the open sea is assuming its accustomed look of gaiety and activity.

Capt. Hilman Smith, the secretary of the Eighth regimental association and ex-mayor of Auburn was hard at work with his willing assistants yesterday getting the building into shape to receive the guests who are expected daily and are constantly arriving. The most of those who occupy this building are members of the Regimental association, their friends and invited guests and Memorial hall, as it is called, is nightly the scene of musicals, dancing parties and jolly gathering of all kind. Indeed, the surviving members of the gallant old Eighth with children and friends spend a few weeks every summer in this cottage enjoy themselves highly and their colony is one of the liveliest on Peaks.

Among those now at the Eighth Regiment cottage are Capt. Hilman Smith and family, Mrs. Horace Little and children, Mrs. William Maloon and family, Mrs. H. B. Sawyer and family, Mrs. S. L. Emerson and family, all of Auburn. By a late boat yesterday afternoon there arrived four of Auburn's pretty school teachers, who have spent several summers at the Eighth Regiment cottage. These are Misses Nettie Curtis, Ida Smith, Bertha Brown and Stella Pettengill. Several other Auburn people are expected in a few days.

The annual reunion of the old Eighth regiment will occur on August 12th and 13th. On the first day will occur the reunion dinner and camp fire, business meetings and other parts of the reunion programme will follow in rapid succession. Col. McCarthy, who presented the cottage to the Eighth Regiment association is expected to be present at this reunion for the first time in many years. About one hundred veterans are expected to be present.

Adjoining the Eighth regiment cottage is the Memorial cottage of the Fifth Maine regiment, which also occupies one of the liveliest spots on the island and is a handsome, well arranged building. The annual reunion of the Fifth Regiment will occur on August 11 and 12, so the committee which has the matter in charge decided yesterday. The election of officers will occur on the first day, when a camp fire will also be held and the annual dinner will occur on the next day.

Among those now stopping at the cottage are Captain J. B. Hammond and family of New Gloucester, William B. Adams wife and family of Auburn, Col. Clark S. Edwards of Bethel and Thomas Ward of Lewiston.

Mr. Lougee, wife and daughter of Nashua, N. H., and Frank F. Goes and family of Auburn are expected to arrive at the Fifth Regiment cottage in a few days.

"Hammockville" or "Canvas City" as it has recently been named forms a large settlement by itself, and although it is almost hidden among the trees on the south shore of the island, it is a place the cottagers delight to visit for here may be found some of the jolliest people in the harbor. A PRESS man wandered up through this Canvas city yesterday and found the inhabitants enjoying the cool breezes from the ocean which was enjoyed on this side of the island while the summer settlement on the side nearest the harbor was suffering from the heat. The camps for the most part are pitched in the grove of pines or near its edge. They consist of one or two tents with a wooden cook house and dining room annexed. In front are stretched over broad piazzas, wide awnings beneath which is generally swung a hammock or two, and it is needless to say that the hammock is usually occupied.

The first tent is usually carpeted and handsomely furnished, serving for a sitting room and in some cases these parlors contain an organ or melodeon with which to accompany the nightly chorus of the Canvas city's many quartettes. The sleeping room is behind the parlor and the campers out say it is cool and comfortable even in the hottest of weather or on the hottest day.

The inhabitants of Canvas city could not be hired to live under a cottage roof, and a case of sickness or a loss of appetite is never known in this little settlement.

One of the camps recently pitched and also one commanding the best view and most handsomely fitted up, is called "Camp Waltham." It is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Downs and Miss Hattie Fillebrown of Waltham, Mass., and Mr. O. E. Davis of New York.

Near-by is "Camp McKinley," inhabited by Messrs. Thomas, Elmer, Varney and Harris. Camp Montecito is the euphonious name of the canvas house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Greenville Jeffards of Portland, and Miss Alice Carle. Camp Sunny Crest is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John P. Scribner of Portland, and visiting them are Mrs. Loring and daughter of Yermouth.

Camp Comfort is one of the oldest and largest camps in Hammockville. It was started in 1881 and has been occupied every year since by Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Anderson and family of Portland. Scattered around in neighboring tents are their guests, Mr. Charles E. Fox and wife of Waltham, Mrs. Charles A. Ballard and daughter of Waltham, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sawtelle, L. M. Plummer, Miss Florence Ellis of Portland.

In Camp Edgewood is Mrs. Ida Adams and family of Chelsea and she is entertaining Mr. and Mrs. George Ross of Boston, Mrs. Edward Burckett of Bradford, Bart Goddard and Walter Hodges of Chelsea.

In Camp Kineo is Mr. Harry Lappin and others of Portland. Camp O. M. O. B. is owned by Ed Burnham, but is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Coolbroth and family of Portland.

In Pulpit Rock cottage is Mr. Smith and family. There are many others besides these and more campers out are arriving by every boat.

The following persons are stopping at the Peaks Island house: John Hayden, wife and daughter, New York; William Segen and wife, New York; E. E. Sargent and wife, St. Johnsbury, Vt.; W. H. Smith, Boston; A. Steele, Sherbrooke; H. X. Delgrade, Boston; Mary Tobin, Maynard; Mary Murphy of Boston; Harvey Cole, Baltimore, E. A. Brooks, St. Johnsbury; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Williams, New York.

Peaks Island Attractions.

Thousands of people took advantage of the splendid attractions offered by the Casco Bay steamboat company at Peaks Island on Saturday. The steamer went down crowded afternoon and evening.

The afternoon exhibition of Japanese fire works and balloons pleased all the little folks. The fire works in the evening were all they were advertised to be. The immense throng of people were delighted with the whole exhibition. The golden fountain and other set pieces were triumphs of pyrotechnic skill. The managers of the fire works regret that there was a little delay in beginning the exhibition, the man who came from Boston was a little longer in getting the frames to put the set pieces on than was expected. Hereafter all outside attraction will begin as near the time advertised as the weather will permit.

The Casco Bay company will have another grand gala day next Saturday afternoon and evening. There will be another display of Japanese fireworks in the afternoon; those day fire works are especially designed to please the children but they are enjoyed just as much by grown people.

Masten and Wells, the great firework manufacturers of Boston, have been contracted to give an exhibition of fire works on the water, this exhibition is very unique and is similar to those given at Nantasket and Revere beaches. The exhibition will begin at half past eight which will be about as soon as it is dark enough to have the fire works show well.

No matter how many thousands go down to this display Manager Godding will have steamers enough to take them home as soon as the fire works are over. Steamers will leave for the city after the fire works.

The Casco Bay company have secured at great expense the world renowned Dixon Brothers musical, clowns, who will give a free out-door performance every afternoon on the arrival of the 2.15 boat, and in the evening on the arrival of the 7.30 boat from the city.

Forest City Bunk.

If you want to see a thousand yards of carpet laid in nine minutes and a handsome sight in the throng of dancers or one of the smartest acts on a bicycle why go to the big rink on Peaks Island this evening. Mr. Gordon is to be congratulated for his pains taken in placing this great crowd that visit his popular place of amusement. Herbert and Lane are wonders and give a fine act. They are with us all the week afternoon and evening.

Great Diamond.

Ex-Mayor Melcher and family moved into their island home on Saturday. On next Thursday evening the Ways and Means society with Miss McCobb will give Mrs. Jarley's wax works in Elwell hall. The money realized by this performance will go towards the island fund.

The fire works which were purchased for July 4th, but not set off on that day because of the weather, were exhibited on Friday night of last week and generally enjoyed. As among the residents of Great Diamond there are many prominent Republicans, including J. H. Drummond, Jr., the candidate for state senator, the rest of the harbor was greatly surprised to see Great Diamond apparently celebrating the Democratic nomination at Chicago. But it was only a late edition of July 4th, though many Republicans feel like celebrating the Democratic split.

The next island entertainment will be a poster exhibition to be given by Messrs. Bryant and Rumery. The exhibition will be a take off on the poster card and the characters who will take part in original costumes promise a great treat.

Mr. R. Tobie of the Boston School of Technology is visiting Mr. Ralph Rumery.

The Yacht Cruiser took the members of Camp Columbia away on a cruise on Sunday.

OBITUARY.

Capt. John Edwin Jacobs.

Captain John Edwin Jacobs, who died at his home in this city Sunday evening, at the age of 84 years, was one of the oldest mariners of this port. He was born at St. Andrews, N. B., his parents having gone there from Portland at the time of the embargo. Very soon his parents returned to this city, and he made it his home for all the remainder of his life. When a boy of 18 or 19 years he shipped in the United States service and was on the United States frigate Potomac, under Commodore John Downes, and in February, 1832, participated in the attack on Quallah Batoo, a village of Sumatra, whose people were chastised because of outrages committed on an American vessel. After this he followed the sea, and several years previous to the civil war was a master stevedore at Mobile. When the war broke out he came north and took command of the coasting schooner Kate Aubrey. Captain Jacobs' wife was Miss Relief Moore, of this city. She died several years ago. A son and a daughter survive him, John Edwin Jacobs, Jr., of this city, and Miss Abbie L. Jacobs, teacher in the Butler school.

Captain Jacobs was a member of Portland Lodge of Mason. The funeral services will occur this afternoon at 2 p. m. from his late residence No. 81 Clark street. Rev. Edward Payson Baker, of Bangor Theological Seminary in 1857, died at Ben Lomond, Santa Cruz County, Cal., June 20th, 1896, aged 68 years. His death was caused by his bicycle running off a narrow bridge, precipitating him upon the rocks below. He was born November 3, 1830, in Phillipsburg, Mass., the son of Levi and Mary (Converse) Baker and was graduated from Amherst college in 1853. He preached at Dummerston from 1857-1860, where he was ordained in 1858. He was at Jackson Brook and Freedom from 1861-1862; at East Machias, 1863-1866; Winterport, 1866-1874; San Francisco, California, 1874-1880; Foreign churen, Hilo, Hawaii, Sandwich Islands, from 1880. After a few years he returned to California. He married L. Maria Upson in August, 1860.

Rev. Edward Payson Baker.

Eliza Ann Jordan, widow of Ezekiel Jordan, died at her home in Casco, Me., the 6th inst. Mrs. Jordan was born in Windham, April 17, 181. She was the daughter of Francis and Susannah (Stuart) Mayberry. Her father served in Nathan Gould's company in the defence of Portland in September, 1814. Her grandfather, Wm. Mayberry, served three years in the company commanded by his father, Captain Richard Mayberry, in the War of the Revolution. She was a descendant in direct line of Captain Wentworth Stuart of Gorham, who commanded a company in the Revolution in Col. Edmund Phelps's regiment and also a direct descendant of Rev. Solomon Lombard, first settled minister and first representative of Gorham in General court of Massachusetts.

Mr. Lombard was twice a delegate to the Provincial Congress and judge of the court of Common Pleas of Cumberland county from 1776 to 1781. Mrs. Jordan was a woman of strong Christian character and genial wit. She will live long in the memory of all who knew her well.

Eliza Ann Jordan.

Mr. Joseph Dillon, for the past four years assistant to Mr. Jones, chief of the weather bureau in this city, received notice last week from headquarters in Washington, to go to the Kansas City, Mo., office, and will leave for that city today. Yesterday Mr. Dillon's friends tendered him a dinner at Long Island, which was attended by many citizens.

After dinner was served Mr. Robert F. Somers presented him in behalf of his friends, a handsome leather travelling case as a slight remembrance of his Portland friends. Mr. Dillon was somewhat surprised, but repaid feelingly. Mr. Dillon is one of the most efficient observers that has ever been stationed in Portland. Mr. Harmon of Washington has taken Mr. Dillon's place.

Presentation to Mr. Dillon.

A Handsome Cup. We hear that Mr. J. Hopkins Smith has decided to offer a handsome silver cup to be competed for by the third class or those under 35 feet—yachts of the Portland Yacht club squadron. Time and conditions of the race will be announced later.

Mechanic Blues.

At the adjourned meeting of the Mechanic Blues, called for last evening at Bosworth Post hall, there was not a quorum present and the meeting was again adjourned without transacting any business.

A WISE MAN

gives this advice about Fire Insurance: "Don't buy Fire Insurance simply because it is cheap. Don't buy of the first agent who comes along simply because he looks all right and talks well."

Every man or woman who has property to insure should investigate the standing of the companies and patronize only the best. And what's more the time to insure your property is before it burns. You can't insure a pile of ashes. Accidents occur as well as conflagrations. We write accident policies and tickets as well as fire insurance. All in the leading companies.

THEY MOVE THEIR HOUSES.

Turomans Have Villages That Are Carried From Place to Place.

The Turomans, who live on the eastern shore of the Caspian sea, carry their villages about with them when they travel. As a tribe sets out on a journey every man packs his wooden house upon a camel, and when the animal can easily carry, and when a spot is reached where he and his friends intend to remain for any great length of time the camels are unharnessed and a village started which it takes about an hour or so to build.

It is to be remembered that the houses are real houses and not tents, and that the settlement is not a camp, but a village. The traveling house of the Turoman is a marvel of skill and ingenuity and is really much lighter, more portable and can be packed into a much smaller compass than any of the so-called portable houses that are manufactured and sold in some parts of our country.

The frame is made of strong, light wood, lath, about an inch broad by three-quarters of an inch thick, crossing each other, when set up in position, at right angles, about a foot apart and fastened at each crossing by the thought of a ratchet and into something less than a right angle, so disposed that the longer portions slope to the center, and being tied with rope form the roof.

Over this is thrown a covering of black felt, having in the center a large hole, which answers both for a window and chimney. Large pieces of the same coarse black felt are wrapped round the walls, and outside these, to keep all tight, is bound another frame of split reeds or canes or of some very light, tough wood bound closely together with strong cords.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

EMBLEM PINS.

Worn by Many People and Made in a Great Variety of Forms.

Emblem scarfpins are made in a variety of forms for various trades and callings. For example, there are two pins made especially for druggists' wear—one a gold mortar and pestle, the other formed of a druggist's cart with a mortar and pestle. These are also made up in the form of watch charms, as are many other of these special designs. There are made for butchers one pin with a cleaver and another having a saw, cleaver and steel combined for a butcher. For musicians there are pins for their heads of gold composing stick. For telegraph operators there is a pin with a telegraph key. There is a scarfpin made with a head in the form of a palette and brushes and with the colors of paint represented by tiny patches of enamel for artists. For musicians there is a scarfpin in the form of a lyre. For timers there is a pin with a pair of timer's shears for a head; for saddlers, a pin with a head in the form of a saddle's knife. There is a pin with a plan for a head for carpenters, a horse shoe pin for jackies, a locomotive pin for locomotive engineers, a lantern for trainmen and a ticket punch for conductors. There are pins, one with a hook and ladder for head, one with a fire engine and another with a fire hat and trumpet made for firemen, and there are various other special scarfpins.

Some of these trade pins are worn more in the city and some more in the country, but altogether their sale is decreasing, while the sale of society pins is increasing, more and more men preferring the society to the trade pin.

Of emblem pins in general far more than ever before are now sold. They are worn by the members of various military, benevolent, veteran, trade and social organizations, by college societies and by graduating classes from schools, and they are produced in a very great variety of designs.—New York Sun.

Satisfying the Flag.

Coffee is now served out, and for 15 minutes the officers of the ship are before the morning work of scrubbing decks and cleaning ship. This work should be finished by five minutes to 8, when the bugle sounds the first call for colors, upon which the quartermaster hands on the flag to the helmsman, who hoists the flag at the stern, and a signal boy does the same with the "jack" at the bow, and both stand ready to hoist them at 8 o'clock. A little period of waiting follows, and then 8 o'clock is reported by an orderly to the officer of the deck, who sends the orderly to report to the captain. Presently the orderly returns and reports:

"The captain says, 'Make it, sir.'"

Thereupon the officer of the deck orders: "Sound off!"

Then ring out the clear, majestic notes of the salute to the flag while all men about the deck face it as it soars with dignity aloft and floats out to the morning breeze, officers and men touching their caps in reverential salute as it comes to rest and the music dies away in long, full notes.—Lieutenant John M. Elliott in St. Nicholas.

The Decline of the "Dot."

Among the many changes which have taken place within the past few years in the manners and customs of the French people is more striking than the gradual decay of the institution known as the dot. From statistics recently published it appears that the dowries now given by French parents to the marriage of their children are becoming more slender. French parents are beginning to adopt our system of giving children away in marriage freely without heaping on financial considerations.—Westminster Gazette.

Our Artistic Future.

Dudley Buck thinks that the artistic future of the country lies in the west. "The old New England stock," he says, "with consumption and too much pie and too little blood, is dying out. We will find that good art is always a product of good blood. We are finding it in the west, with the mingling of the Norwegians, Swedes and Germans with the Americans."

Clay and rock are given us, not brick and squared stone. God gives us no monument. He gives us flat and steep. If we would have anything of benefit, we must earn it, and, earning it, must become shrewd, inventive, ingenious, active, enterprising.—Becher.

It is estimated that of the total sum raised for the support of the Protestant churches of this country over one-third is now procured by the efforts or labors of women.

WRONG HALF ON TOP.

A Difficulty in the Way of Complying With the Minister's Views.

A preacher with views on the temperance question was walking along a dusty road. A farmer with an empty wagon, save that it contained a gallon jug, overtook him and asked if he did not wish to ride. The preacher, ascending, climbed into the wagon, and as they jogged along toward the next village the two fell into conversation.

Now, the preacher had his suspicions concerning the jug and led the talk around to the subject of temperance, expounding his views at great length and with appropriate emphasis. Much to his surprise, his companion quite agreed with him. Nevertheless the preacher still continued to suspect the jug.

"My friend," he said presently, "would you mind telling me what you have in that jug?"

"Liquor," said the farmer.

"I feared so," continued the preacher.

"Now, my dear friend, you have agreed with all I have said on this great question of temperance."

"Yes."

"Can you not give proof that you mean what you say and pour out that accursed liquor?"

"No."

"But I cannot understand."

"Well," said the farmer, "you see, I'd do it for you only half the liquor in that jug belongs to my brother."

"Then empty your half, my friend."

"But I can't do that either. You see, his half's on top!"—Boston Budget.

How Bicycles Are Bought.

"I wonder where on earth the money comes from to pay for all these wheels!" said the first passenger.

"You are not the only one who wonders about it," said the other passenger.

"It's an everyday conundrum with a host of people. I wondered at it myself until a few days ago. Then I found out, something that set me to calculating. We have an office boy and pay him $7 a week—every cent he's worth. A day or two ago he came up stairs carrying a brand new wheel.

"Whose wheel, Jimmie?" I asked.

"Mine," he answered. "Ain't she a bute! High grade, you know. Cost a hundred plunks."

"Yours? I echod. How can you afford a $100 wheel?"

"Easy," he answered. "Installment, you know. 'Tis a plunkus down and five a month till she's paid for."

"And that's how it happens that a $7 a week boy can secure a $100 wheel. And I guess you'll find that's only one case in a thousand of the same sort."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

An Automatic Bank.

The automatic machine idea has been turned to new account in Italy. Put a coin in the slot, take out a receipt and the thing is done. The workingman's "honest penny" is "banked" without the trouble of going to a savings bank or the postoffice. When a sufficient number of receipts have been collected, they can be exchanged for a "libretto" of the regular savings bank. Interest at 4 per cent is paid on deposits, and the depositors are entitled to a share of the profits derived from the bank's operations.—Rome Correspondent.

AN INVITATION.

It Gives Us Pleasure to Publish the following Announcement.

All women suffering from any form of illness peculiar to their sex are requested to communicate promptly with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only.

A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America.

This confidence has induced more than 100,000 women to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice during the last few months.

Think what a volume of experience she has to draw from! No physician living ever treated so many cases of female ills, and from this vast experience surely it is more than possible she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case.

She is glad to have you write or call upon her. You will find her a woman full of sympathy, with a great desire to assist those who are sick. If her medicine is not what you need, she will frankly tell you so, and there are nine chances out of ten that she will tell you exactly what to do for relief. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has relieved thousands.

Surely, any ailing woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

Never in the history of medicine has the demand for one particular remedy for female diseases equalled that attained by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and never in the history of Mrs. Pinkham's wonderful Compound has the demand for it been so great as it is to-day.

We are finding it in the west, with the mingling of the Norwegians, Swedes and Germans with the Americans."

GIVING IT TO SEWALL.

Democrats Recall Action of Falmouth Club.

Sewall's Position Was Then Repudiated—

What Should Winslow Do?

There is no little perturbation in local Democratic circles over the nomination of Arthur Sewall, and the position in which E. B. Winslow finds himself in regard to the two platforms. The news of the nomination of Sewall was received with positive rage and disgust by many, especially by those members of the Falmouth Club who, a year ago, participated in administering a spanking to Sewall for his free silver views. On June 28, 1895 the club held a meeting. They had heard that Sewall had declared for silver. What they did was described as follows in the Argus next morning:

An enthusiastic meeting of the Falmouth Club was held last evening, and the following resolution drafted by Col. A. W. Bradbury and Dr. S. C. Gordon was unanimously adopted:

"Inasmuch as it might seem if they were allowed to go unchallenged that we approve the opinions touching the silver and currency questions recently promulgated by an official accredited by the Democratic party of Maine to the national committee, to it by the Falmouth Club of Portland.

Resolved: That we repudiate any utterances from any source that commit the Maine Democratic to free coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1 or any other ratio of gold to silver, and that we severally and solemnly agreed upon by an authorized convention of the great money powers of the world.

That we cordially endorse the expressed views of President Cleveland cautioning the people against the silver heresy; and declare that the thanks of all good citizens are due Secretary Carlisle for his luminous exposition of the sound money principles of the Democratic party.

There is a strong sentiment in the Falmouth Club that Mr. Winslow in his forthcoming letter of acceptance should emphasize that he adheres to the Maine platform, and that he repudiates the Chicago platform. Some of the most prudent ones, however, think that he should content himself with silence in regard to the national platform.

The telegram said to have been sent by Mr. Arthur Sewall to the Morning Journal of New York, and which is printed in another column, had not been generally seen by local Democrats yesterday. That, coupled with Mr. Winslow's denial that he ever promised, as Mr. Sewall represents, did not tend to encourage lamb-like feelings among the Democrats who saw the despatch.

REPUTATION AND CONFISCATION.

What Hon. George F. Emery Says of the Chicago Convention.

A Portland Democrat of the Straightest

Sett Revolt—No True Democracy in Platform or Candidates.

Hon. George F. Emery, one of the oldest and straightest of Maine Democrats, former clerk of the United States court and editor of the Boston Post, cannot stand the Chicago programme. This was his dialogue with a PRESS man yesterday:

"It is rumored that you do not propose to support the Chicago platform and nominees. If the rumor is well founded and if you have no objections to stating them, it would be gratifying to many of your friends, to learn the reasons for your proposed action.

"Certainly, I, have no objections, for the crisis demands of everyman a show of his colors, now as when the union was imperiled by armed secession. The present crisis is now more dangerous than in 1861, for then the worst was open and above board and it was only a question of time when it would be effectually quelled by patriotic men from all classes and political associations. The movement at Chicago is (without meaning it on the part of many) nothing short of repudiation, and confiscation under the proposed form of law, a stab at our national credit, robbery of depositors in our savings bank of nearly one half their honest dues, general impairment of all existing time contracts, and a stunning blow at labor and all industrial interests. The inspiration of the moment is the deadly virus of the communist, some of whose leaders are unblushing anarchists and revolutionists. That such a movement should receive endorsement of a so called Democratic convention is the most marvellous and disreputable chapter of party history ever recorded in our national annals. It will not and must not succeed. But to defeat it, men who think alike must act together as they did in that momentous struggle to save the union.

What action the Democrats who were practically voted out of the convention by the power of numbers vitally increased, by unseating a portion of the delegates clearly entitled to their seats, and thus crucifying Democracy in its own temple remains to be seen. What other old fashioned Democrats will do I know not. For one I propose casting my vote for such persons, by whatever name called, as nearest represent my sentiments. The issue is simply between a gold or silver standard, for one or the other must prevail, and no human power can prevent it. Bimetallism, in our present relations to other powers, is out of the question.

When I came upon the political stage I enrolled among the followers of Jackson and Benton who, after an intense and protracted struggle, gave the people an honest gold dollar in place of a "shin-plaster" currency. When the war was upon us, and the proposition was projected to pay off our soldiers in paper promises instead of gold, every Democrat in Congress voted against it. I commended them for it. When the craze known as "Green-backism" swept over New England, at personal loss and sacrifice I battled against it with all the vigor and ability I could command. Since President Cleveland has shown his loyalty to Democratic principles by adhering to the gold standard and maintaining the national credit, I have honored him for that more than for all else accomplished under his administration. To soil my record now, humble as it is, by surrendering principles which have been my guide through life, and to stifle my convictions of duty in this hour of the country's greatest peril, I cannot and will not do, even though in the spirit of Tom Benton's proclamation on a momentary occasion, "solitary and alone I set this ball in motion." Said the eloquent champion who carried off the honor at Chicago, "you shall not crucify mankind upon a cross of gold." So say we all. Neither shall communists and anarchists be permitted to strike down our national honor and public and private credit, their hands grasping concealed weapons in their bosom and with silver sabres dangling by their sides.

Capt. Allen and the Alert.
Capt. Allen of the yacht Alert has just been heard from. He spent Sunday a South Goudisboro, where he had a large gathering to welcome him. He reports his wife and baby well, and that they have engaged a small rent at Muscongus island, where they intend keeping house for the present. The yacht is too unstable and too active in the service to make a suitable home for mother and child. It will not take much to set up house keeping in their humble way, but a second hand stove and bedstead and chairs and table and rocker and bedding, &c., &c., will not come amiss. Should the friends of this missionary work have some article of furniture they can spare as well as not, will they kindly send word to F. Southworth, 108 Newbury street. Capt. Allen expects to be here the last of the week.

The ravages of army worms in East Harford, is so great that many farmers cut hay in the meadows yesterday. All the crop will be in this week to escape the pest. The worms are working northward. The loss so far is about one-third of the entire crop.

As stated in yesterday's Argus and Advertiser, the Dead Calm Yacht club, Sloppy Weather Yacht club, Middlesex and Press Cycle clubs, was entertained by the Portland Wheel clubs. Such is not the case, however as the Bilge Water Yacht club of this city, which, by the way, is a newly-formed organization, of but 11 members, did the entertaining. There were 61 in the party, and a jollity party has yet to strike this town. The new club will occupy a cottage on the Cape shore, and are already planning another outing which will be held at Two Lights, the second Sunday in September.

Loss of Half Million by Fire.
St. Louis, July 13.—At 5.15 o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the Merchants' Terminal elevator at Bidde street and the levee. When the fire department arrived the building was a mass of flames. Assistant Chief Hines fell from a ladder and was fatally injured. The loss will be at least $500,000. The building contained thousands of bushels of wheat and this went up.

WHERE 35,000 WERE KILLED.
Further Particulars of the Awful Japan Disaster.

San Francisco, Cal., July 13.—The Tokio correspondent of the United Press, writing under date of June 23, describing the devastation wrought by the tidal wave on June 10, says that at half past eight o'clock.

In the evening the wave struck the northeast coast of the mainland, throughout a distance of about two hundred miles, and in five minutes 30,000 people were killed, 7500 injured, and 12,000 houses destroyed.

The general direction of the wave appears to have been north by east, or, after carrying devastation to the shore of the main island it left Yezo on the west, touching that island at Yermio cape only.

Several accounts agree that at about seven o'clock three or four shocks of earthquakes were felt, not violent, though of the vertical kind that folks in Japan dread. The barometer gave no indication of anything unusual. Some twenty or twenty-five minutes later a booming sound became audible from the direction of the sea. Only a very few suspected the real significance of the sound. Rapidly the noise increased until it assumed the volume and deafening din of a great park of artillery, and then in a moment waves from twenty to thirty feet high were thundering against the shore. That terrible totals at this moment of writing are 20,073 killed, 7757 wounded and 7,844 houses washed away or wrecked. In the prefecture of Iwat were 30 towns and villages, 870 were males and 500 females were killed and 25,418 persons were killed and 6,774 wounded out of a total population of 104,771, so that of every three inhabitants one was killed or wounded.

Statistics from Miyagi prefecture show that out of 1,370 deaths in twenty villages, 870 were males and 500 females. The scene presented by the devastated districts is shocking. Along the beaches the timbers of wrecked houses lie piled upon each other, moss covered roofs of thatched dwellings are scattered about, and the shattered happy families a few days ago in quiet country nooks, are strewn pell mell on the sands. Here houses that have had their walls torn away, stand as mere skeletons. Others have been wrenched from their foundations, telegraph poles and other, tumbled up and down or heaped in shattered confusion.

Baron de Hirsch.
It is, of course, impossible to give a complete list of Baron de Hirsch's benevolent acts, but the following are probably the best known: Jewish Colonization association, $10,000,000; De Hirsch trust for the United States, $3,500,000; trust fund for education in Galicia, $5,000,000; fund for assistance of tradesmen in Vienna and Budapest, $1,455,000; fund for the Hungarian poor, $1,455,000; turf winnings during 1891-4, distributed for charitable purposes, $500,000; gift to the empress of Russia for charitable purposes during Russo-Turkish war, $200,000; gifts in 1893 to London hospitals and other charities, $200,000; gifts to Alliance Israelite Universelle, $400,000; proceeds of the sale of his son's racing stud, distributed among charities, $60,000. These alone amount to the enormous sum of nearly $22,000,000. Baron de Hirsch's noble work does not cease with his death, but rests on carefully planned foundations, administered by agents he chose in the several countries.—Forum.

Wealth or Beauty.
"Which has the best chance of marriage, the heiress or the beauty?" was the query propounded by an English newspaper recently. The prize winner was a young woman who replied that "a lovely face is very attractive, and men pay much attention to his happy possessor. But there is a wonderful gleam of sunshine in a woman's eye, and it is popularly supposed to curl her hair with bank notes which no amount of personal charm can ever supersede. Men with little or no money generally desire well dowered girls as wives, while rich men do not find it unpleasant to add to their wealth, and by choosing an heiress, carry out the old adage of 'riches go to riches.'"

HASN'T FORGOTTEN HIS TRAINING.

Young James G. Blaine Kneels Out a New York Silverite.

A young man who gave his name as Jordan Jones, but whom the New York Herald says was James G. Blaine, the son of the dead statesman, got into an argument on Saturday in a New York street car with a man named Clancy over the silver question, and from an argument of words it developed into one of blows. Young Blaine affirmed during the course of the debate, when Clancy declared William Jennings Bryan to be the savior of the working man, that all such stuff was "outrageous rot."

Clancy called Blaine a "leather headed swell," and when he alighted from the car yelled out to Blaine: "If you'll come out here I'll punch the head off you and Bill McKinley too."

Blaine got off the car and didn't do a thing to Clancy, but knock out two of his front teeth, blacked his eye and finally ended the matter by lying the warlike silverite prostrate at his feet. In the Jefferson Market Police court "Jordan Jones" as he styled himself was fined $10 and costs and the fine was paid by a friend.
